

BANKERS PRESSING FOR U. S. INQUIRY IN FERGUSON CASE

Agent Sent to Washington to Urge Government to Make Thorough Investigation of Use of Mails.

BITTER OVER STATE COURT FAILURE

Circuit Attorney's Attitude in Prosecution Assailed by Spokesman for the Fraud Victims.

St. Louis bankers, bitterly disappointed over Circuit Attorney Sidener's failure to make a case against Forrest Ferguson, who admitted his complicity with the late Murray Carleton in falsifying statements of the Ferguson-McKinney Manufacturing Co. for credit, through which the banks lost approximately $2,000,000 when the firm collapsed, have turned to Justice in an effort to have justice done in the case.

They have dispatched an agent to urge that the Federal Government make thorough its investigation of the credit frauds.

Federal jurisdiction would lie in use of the mails to defraud. The company mailed false statements of its financial condition to Eastern bankers. Postoffice Inspectors are inquiring to determine whether this use of the mails came within the statute penalizing use of the mails to further a scheme to defraud, and, if so, what responsibility could be charged to Ferguson, his resignation.)

Sidener Profuse in Promises.

"We did not foresee at that time the complete fiasco that was to come," When Reeder reported this barrier to the bankers, they sought Sidener. "He was profuse in promises and once again Reeder was to go to him."

"Sidener, he found chiller, if anything, than ever. Bowcock was adamant. Reeder then reported to the bankers that he would be forced to withdraw. He could be painstakingly—and in consultation, as with other well-known criminal lawyers—drew an indictment under which it was felt that maximum chance of successful prosecution would be had. He carried it to the Circuit Attorney's office, left it there and retired from the case. Lack of co-operation in the Circuit Attorney's office had destroyed his usefulness. We feel very bitter about this case, which aroused the public by its ramifying aspects of fraud, not only upon us, but upon stockholders."

One of the bankers related today to a Post-Dispatch reporter how the bankers provided Circuit Attorney Sidener with weapons for the prosecution of Ferguson and how in his opinion and the opinion of bankers generally, Sidener rendered the weapons impotent and cast them aside.

Sidener's Attitude in Case.

"When Carleton and Ferguson had been indicted," the banker began, "Sidener came to us and said that he had neither the time, the assistants, nor the funds necessary to proceed with the case, as diligently and effectively as he would like. Accordingly the matter was brought to the attention of the St. Louis Clearing House Association and that body of bankers authorized the employment of as much as $10,000 in giving assistance to Sidener."

"It appointed a committee composed of Richard S. Hawes, vice-president of the First National Bank; John G. Lonsdale, president of the National Bank of Commerce; and Edward P. Preyer, president of the Edward National Bank. The sum which the committee had not disclosed to Sidener, rather, as I recall, the impression was, left that the amount was $5000."

"Sidener thereupon suggested that the $5000 be turned over to him. He said he would have to interview New York bankers involved by the acts of the company's officers and all others who had suffered losses through the false statements. The committee replied that it would provide all the evidence necessary—all that he would require. Sidener wanted then to have money to employ a special prosecutor. The committee told him it would attend to that, also. In short, the committee refused to turn over any money to Sidener."

Rejected Many Lawyers.

Sidener thereupon announced that the embezzlement charge was his best one against Ferguson and that having failed, the false statement charges would fail also. Accordingly he formally nolle prossed them and, at this time, Ferguson is still in custody.

Commenting upon this phase of the case, an attorney said to the reporter: "The embezzlement charge had not a leg to stand on. That indictment of Ferguson was not worth paper used to write it and court decisions were sufficiently clear to indicate that his prosecution on that charge could not fail. Whatever a jury verdict might have been, it would have been a dead Ferguson."

"Circuit Attorney Sidener's statement that the embezzlement charge was his best one against Ferguson is comparable to some such situation as this: Imagine that someone had entered my home, seized a poker and struck me over the head, killing me. Departing, he carried out the poker and dropped it on the lawn. Two charges—murder of me and burglary of the poker. Sidener's trial of Ferguson for embezzlement is synonymous with the trial of a murderer for burglary. In other words, the only charge which there was any hope of establishing against Ferguson was one of false statement."

Departing, he carried out the poker and dropped it on the lawn. Two charges—murder of me and burglary of the poker. Rejected Many Lawyers.

The meeting closed with the understanding that the committee would immediately recommend a special prosecutor, and it did. Sidener declined the man selected. Another was suggested. Sidener turned him down. We suggested, in turn, men like former circuit Attorney McDaniels and former Assistant Circuit Attorney William Baer. Sidener turned down each as rapidly as we could suggest them. Finally we named former Assistant Circuit Attorney William O. Reeder, whose record as a trial prosecutor we found to have been excellent. After delaying two weeks Sidener accepted Reeder.

Reeder immediately went to work. Rather, he tried to go to work. When he sought Sidener, the latter referred him to John Bowcock, Assistant Circuit Attorney. Bowcock had drawn indictments against Ferguson and Carleton. Reeder, after study and consultation with the best criminal lawyers in St. Louis, arrived at the opinion that Bowcock's indictments were not bullet-proof. Bowcock had

GIVES MILLIONS TO PHILANTHROPY

S. S. KRESGE GIVES $25,000,000 TO PHILANTHROPY

Chain Store Magnate Puts 500,000 Shares of Stock in Trust for Charity and Education.

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 19.—Sebastian S. Kresge, head of a chain of 30 5-cent and 10-cent stores has established a $25,000,000 endowment for philanthropy and education.

The exact application of the income is yet to be determined.

An initial gift of $2,000,000 was made in 1924, but never revealed till announcement of a second gift of $23,000,000 yesterday. Future gifts are to be made as work progresses.

The endowment starts with an income of $500,000 a year, which is expected to reach several millions. The latest gift consists of 500,000 shares of the S. S. Kresge common stock, which has a market value of an ox, namely $45 a share.

Bonds to Be Issued.

Under trust provisions, the shares will be held intact but will be utilized as collateral for occasional bond issues. The first of these will be for $10,000,000, the proceeds to be devoted to: (1) to the purchase of real estate.

Through his banking representatives, Kresge indicated that he will make additional gifts to maintain a perpetual fund for charity.

Only tentative plans have been outlined for the Kresge foundations, but it is expected that a permanent organization under Kresge's guidance soon will begin a survey, looking toward a definite program of financial assistance to educational, charitable and religious enterprises.

Fortune Based on $8000.

The chain of 5-cent and 10-cent stores, which form the foundation of the Kresge fortune, was started by Kreske in Detroit in 1897 with $8000 capital.

Kresge recently settled out of court an action brought by his second wife, Mrs. Doris Mercer Kresge, to compel him to carry out an alleged pre-nuptial agreement to give her certain shares of Kresge stock. The amount of the settlement was never made known, but was said to have been in excess of $1,000,000.

AHEAD IN RETURNS FOR PENNSYLVANIA

The State Federation of Labor was reflected in returns from counties embracing a large percentage of the members of these organizations.

Vare, now serving his eighth term as a Member of Congress, long has been active in State and Philadelphia politics. He was born in Philadelphia 58 years ago. Early in life he entered politics with his brothers, with whom he also engaged in the contracting business.

What followed was recited by Ferguson upon an embezzlement charge based upon his practice of borrowing company money for his personal use and depositing his I.O.U.'S. The case did not reach the jury. Edward Fortier, attorney for Ferguson, argued that the State's own testimony established that Ferguson had got the money by the regular disbursing processes of the company. Circuit Judge Mix upheld this view and Ferguson was discharged.

Other Charges Dismissed.

Sidener thereupon announced that the embezzlement charge was his best one against Ferguson and that having failed, the false statement charges would fail also. Accordingly he formally nolle prossed them and, at this time, Ferguson is still in custody.

Commenting upon this phase of the case, an attorney said to the reporter: "The embezzlement charge had not a leg to stand on. #### WARRANT DENIED OVER FALL OF DOG FROM AN AIRPLANE

Kansas City Pilot Loses Job and Faces Prosecution on Charge of Cruelty.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. KANSAS CITY, May 19.—A warrant for the arrest of Waldo Robey, former pilot for the Porter Flying School, on a charge of cruelty to animals has been denied L. H. Hatfield, chief agent of the Kansas City Humane Society, made the application. Robey killed a stray dog by dropping it 80 feet from his plane. E. E. Porterfield, head of the school, fired the pilot yesterday.

Willard L. Sturdevant, president of the Missouri Commission for the Blind and former president of the St. Louis Bar Association, died at his apartment in the Buckingham Hotel at 9 a.m. today of heart disease after an illness of less than 12 hours. He was 65 years old, and had been a practicing attorney here for the last 30 years.

Mr. Sturdevant attended a banquet of the Missouri Commission for the Blind at Hotel Chase last night. He returned to the Buckingham about 11 p.m., and was conversing with Mrs. Alice W. Meng, widow of Dr. E. R. Meng, when he became ill.

Dr. L. S. Luton, who resides at the hotel, was summoned and gave emergency treatment. At 7 a.m., Dr. Luton noted an improvement in his patient's condition, but shortly afterward he suffered a relapse. Mrs. Meng, who was at his bedside when he died, said she and Mr. Sturdevant, a bachelor, had planned to announce their engagement soon.

Recovered From Recent Illness. Mr. Sturdevant suffered from high blood pressure last February, but recovered and was at his office in the Central National Bank Building yesterday.

By virtue of his election to the presidency of the local bar association, but is expected as his feeling of helplessness in dealing with the Circuit Attorney, and if the Judge then assesses higher punishment than the defendant bargained for, the defendant may withdraw his plea and plead not guilty.

Can Block Circuit Attorney.

"Therefore, it is my opinion that a Judge may at any time block the attempt of the Circuit Attorney to enforce his recommendation by fixing stronger punishment than the Circuit Attorney recommends."

Former Circuit Judge O'Neill Ryan thus agreed with Judge Calhoun: "The Circuit Attorney's recommendations are never mandatory," he stated. "When I was on the bench I never so regarded them. Usually I agreed with the recommendations, but when I disagreed I did not hesitate to act. I do not believe that the right to nolle-pross, which is very important in the Circuit Attorney, also gives him the right to dictate punishment. The matter of sentence is one for the Judge and the Judge alone to decide."

Circuit Judge Landwehr was in agreement with Ryan and Calhoun: "The Circuit Attorney's recommendations are never mandatory," he stated. "When I was on the bench I never so regarded them. I do not believe that the right to nolle-pross, which is very important in the Circuit Attorney, also gives him the right to dictate punishment. Dry Divided. Vare's Victory Expected, Says Wheeler.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Wayne E. Wheeler, general counsel for the American League, issued this statement today regarding the primary in Pennsylvania.

"The nomination of Mr. Vare with the dry vote divided between Senator Pepper and Gov. Pinchot was expected.

"In other states under such circumstances the drys unite on the candidate most likely to win, but it was impossible to accomplish this in Pennsylvania.

"The united vote of Pinchot and Pepper showed that Pennsylvania's voters are against the platform advocated by Mr. Vare. He will not have any more influence in bringing back light wine and beer than Senator Edwards of New Jersey.

"We will make up this lost dry vote in the Senate in some other state. The large majority of the Senate will still be dry."

William S. Vare said in a statement today that he regarded the result of the primary in Pennsylvania as an evidence of the voters' desire "for a return of personal liberty."

Mr. Sturdevant was born in Washington County, near Salem, Ind., and attended a normal school at Danville, Ind., after completing a public school course. He taught school after his graduation from the normal and studied law at night. Before coming here he had practiced law in Wichita, Kan., and in Oklahoma.

MAN IN TRUCK KILLED BY BEAM ON A WAGON

Projecting Iron Bar Strikes Julius Chappée, 50, in Unusual Accident.

Julius Chappée, 50 years old, of 1112 Madison street, was killed in an unusual accident in front of his home at 2711 Cass avenue at 10:30 a.m. today. Chappée, an employee of the Brecht Co., 1201 Cass avenue, was riding on a company truck on the seat beside the driver, Albert Westoh, 23, of 844 Lowell avenue. Ahead of them was a wagon with a long iron beam, with a red flag attached, projecting to the rear. As Westoh tried to pass between the wagon and a street car, apparently he did not turn out soon enough, and Chappée was borne against the end of the iron bar. He was crushed.

Westoh, the wagon driver, Walter Brownsky, 1968 North Fourteenth street, gave bond pending the inquest tomorrow.

Coroner Asks Police to Investigate Death of Baby.

The Coroner today asked police to investigate the death of Elmer M. Claytor, 6 months old, at his home, 6347 Mitchell avenue, last night. The Coroner was informed that the death resulted from injuries suffered a month ago, when an automobile occupied by the child and his parents was wrecked in a collision at 5970 Lalite avenue.

Seth McCleary, 27, of 4160A Orange avenue, part owner of a hardware store at 5294 Page boulevard, parked his automobile between two other cars at 11 a.m. today in front of the store and was fixing the radiator, when a truck came along and struck the first parked car, which then struck McCleary's car, pushing against the third car, injuring his internally. The truck driver, Earl Colgrove, 6622 Chamblain avenue, was arrested.

Today's motor vehicle fatalities brought the year's total to 66, as compared with 63 for a similar period last year.

LEADER OF RECALL - MILLER MOVEMENT TELLS HOW HE OBTAINED 75,000 SIGNATURES

John J. Heil, Expert Director in New Field, Meeting All Charter Requirements — Confident of Success.

OUR CIVILIZATION IS ALWAYS OPENING UP NEW PROFESSIONS FOR YOUNG MEN. ONE OF THE LATEST IS THAT OF PLEBISCITE DIRECTOR.

John J. Heil, who has carried the Recall-Mayer-Miller campaign past the 75,000-signature mark in less than two months, is the St. Louis representative of this new calling.

Two years ago, Heil conducted the Antitotal Referendum League, trying to get the voters to reverse the action of the Board of Aldermen, which had been against the Free Bridge northeast approach. The referendum proposal did not win, but it taught Heil how to handle petition sheets and polling lists.

At the 1924 election, Heil got a courtroom job as Deputy Sheriff, which lasted until he saw a chance for new plebiscitary work. Since March 22, he has been head and front of the Recall-Miller Committee.

Some cynical persons would accept the word "front." Supporters of the Mayor charge that Heil is only the "front," and that men higher up are the real power in the recall movement.

HIGH UP, FURTHER BACK.

Heil does not admit that there are men higher up, but says there are some farther back, both contributors of funds and signers of petitions—men who do not wish, for business reasons, to have their connection known. He intends to protect such persons.

"Some men who were for the recall didn't wish to sign petitions," Heil relates, "because they didn't wish to have their names seen. In some such cases, I have instructed a canvasser to leave the last space on a sheet blank, in which case no one sees the last signature but the better."

CANVASSERS DON'T ARGUE.

"Our canvassers don't go around arguing. People know about this movement, and know whether they wish to sign or not. Our people are instructed to go in with a smile and come out with a smile, whether they get signatures or not. Those who show a disposition to argue are likely to be trying to kill time for the canvassers."

"As precinct lists come in, we check them with the printed lists of voters in the precincts, obtained from the Election Board. Sometimes, when we see persons whose names should be on the list and are not, we send canvassers after them."

"We want to avoid having to file supplementary lists, as in that case the element of time would be working against us. Now we are free to take as long as necessary. As I have said before, there will be no unnecessary delay, and the petitions, which have been signed in good faith, will be used in good faith for the purpose intended, and will not be held over the Mayor's head for any political or other purpose. Signers and contributors would have a right to complain if we were to make such a use of the petitions."

Paid $1900. Got Clouded Title.

"My husband and I bought two lots for $1900," Mrs. Laura Scott testified. "We built a house but we have been unable to get it because we cannot get a clear title. I think Prettyman and his salesmen are the biggest falsifiers I have ever seen."

H. S. Taylor, another witness, testified he bought 20 acres last December and that he has spent $12,000 trying to make the tract habitable and tillable. "They told me that the man who drained the Everglades and Miami would drain my property," he said, "but he never showed up."

Other witnesses said that Dayna-Delano farms was a low-lying, marshy stretch, covered mostly by marsh grass and cypress trees and liable only under the influence of the most optimistic sales talk.

Prettyman in his defense expected to contend he had not had enough time to develop the property as he had promised.

Active in the Newspapers.

Thinking that one of the pro-Prettyman salesmen had been active in presenting his side to the newspapers, sending out telegraph stories and getting in touch with publications by long distance telephone to give them Prettyman's replies to the development in the case.

Included in more than 100 petitions names presented by Prettyman are Roger W. Babson, the statistician who is now in Massachusetts; D. P. Davis, who developed island realty projects at Tampa and St. Augustine; George E. Merrick, who promoted Coral Gables and Frank Bryson, developer of Haines City, who recently filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition.

PACKARD PHONOGRAPH

Coolidge's Choice of Brossard Called "Raw"

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, chairman of the committee.

The sole point of the letter, Culbertson said, was that he disapproved of the appointment of Brossard.

He was not asked to amplify his statement about the "rawness" of the appointment. The committee seemed to feel that the letter spoke for itself.

Testimony Shields President.

It did, indeed, speak most significantly when compared with the testimony that the witness had just given. The gist of this was that neither the President nor the commissioners had been consulted together on outside influences.

He said that the President never had intimated to him that he should change his decision in the sugar case. He put all the blame on the "sugar lobby."

"This lobby," he said, "was very active. It was trying to get me to do what it could to find out what was going on in the commission."

The period of which he spoke was that during which the sugar report was under consideration in the commission before it had gone to the President. It was during this period that charges were lodged against Culbertson by a disappointed applicant before the commission, saying that he had violated the law by delivering lectures for pay.

Interview With Coolidge.

According to previous testimony before the committee, Culbertson was called into the office of the President in July, 1924, and asked whether he could not delay the sugar report. Lying on the President's desk at the time, the commission had been told, was an opinion from the Attorney-General saying that Culbertson had violated the law by his outside lecture work. This version of the July, 1924, interview between the President and Culbertson was given to Costigan, who based his testimony on a letter which he said Culbertson had written to William Allen White.

Culbertson said that if he wrote any such letter to White he had been unable to find it in his files.

He said that the President told him at the interview in question that "a personal" opinion had been received from the Attorney-General.

He added that he did not see a written opinion in the case and never had seen one.

The upshot of the incident was that the President asked him to discontinue his lectures at Georgetown University, for which he was receiving $1000 a year for speaking once a week, in the evening, and he promised to do so. The president said that he might go ahead and fill his summer engagement at the Williamson, Mass., Institute of Politics, for which he was paid $500. The President said, according to the witness, that he had no further concern about the charges against him.

"As precinct lists come in, we check them with the printed lists of voters in the precincts, obtained from the Election Board. Sometimes, when we see persons whose names should be on the list and are not, we send canvassers after them."

"We want to avoid having to file supplementary lists, as in that case the element of time would be working against us. Now we are free to take as long as necessary. As I have said before, there will be no unnecessary delay, and the petitions, which have been signed in good faith, will be used in good faith for the purpose intended, and will not be held over the Mayor's head for any political or other purpose. Signers and contributors would have a right to complain if we were to make such a use of the petitions."

An exception to the list which is kept at the recall headquarters in the City Club Building, and which may be signed by voters living in any part of the city. The names will count on the total.

Meeting Charter Requirements.

Home canvassing, Heil has determined, is the only way to meet the charter requirements, which seem fussy, and which some have thought impossible of fulfillment.

The Charter says that, to bring about a recall election, the total number of signatures to petitions must equal one-fifth the number of the city's registered voters; also that there shall be one-fifth in each of 19 wards.

In the election, a majority decides whether the official, or shall remain.

The Charter provides that if petitions are filed and found to be insufficiently signed, supplementary petitions may be filed within another 20-day period, to bring up the number to the requirement.

Heil replied that he would propose to continue until 120,000 signatures, or the required one-fifth of the voters have been obtained.

Asked whether he expected any official reward if his efforts should result in placing a new Mayor in office, Heil replied that he would not take the mayoralty if he could get it, after having directed a recall movement. He would not think it proper, he explained. He did not say that he would not take some place that a new Mayor might offer him.

Confident of Success.

"There might have been no response; or there might have been an attempt to pack the hall with city employees; or there might have been a lukewarm gathering. But the people filled the hall and were enthusiastically for the recall, and I have had no doubt since that the movement will succeed."

"The criticism is made that the recall movement ties up public business," Heil continued, "but there would never be a time when that could not be said. The Charter is clear."

Article 3, contemplates just a situation as exists now, and when such a situation exists, the best thing is to have a change by the properly prescribed means as soon as possible."

1922 New Signatures on the Petitions in Last 24 Hours.

Addition of 1192 signatures to the petitions for the recall of Mayor Miller during the last 24 hours was the smallest accretion announced any day since the first week of the campaign, which now is in its seventh week.

The volume of daily addition as announced by the Miller Recall Committee has dropped steadily in the last two weeks, previously having been at the rate of more than 2000 daily.

Today the total is 76,957. The minimum required is 60,458, but a margin is being accumulated to cover faulty signatures.

URGENT APPOINTMENT OF
POSTMASTERS FOR MERIT ONLY

Head of Civil Service Commission
Addresses Women's Club Federation Convention.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 19.—Calling the present system of appointment of Postmasters a "relic of the discredited spoils system," William C. Deming, president of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, today expressed hope that the women's clubs of the country would build up so strong a sentiment for bringing postmasterships under the merit system that no representative or Senator would dare ignore the issue.

Deming's address was delivered before the thirty-first annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

Reviewing the part that the women of this country had played in the establishment and functioning of the Federal Government, Deming said:

"From the earliest dawn of recorded history woman has been the saving influence in the home. Today she is all of that and more. In our modern, complex affairs, modified by pressing economic standards and needs, woman has become also an effective influence in social and political life."

"In view of all this, and in the light of present conditions, it seems a bit strange that not until 1886 does the name of any woman appear upon the Federal payroll in Washington."

"In that year Francis E. Spinner, Treasurer of the United States, appointed Miss Jennie Douglas to cut and trim United States currency, work that had been done with shears and by men. It is recorded that Gen. Spinner remarked to Miss Douglas, 'Her first day's work set tied the matter in her behalf and in woman's favor.'

Attorney's office despaired of finding him after one search. Deputy Comer reported he was unable to find Jesse Allen, or Max S. Reed. There was no return on Steinhoff this time and here again the Circuit Attorney's office seems to have abandoned its search after one attempt.

All Police Officers Found.

Both sets of subpoenas show that the deputies did find and serve all the police officers connected with the case and also Miss Billie Earle, employee of the Majestic Hotel. No subpoenas ever were issued, according to the records, for Thomas Donovan or William Sullivan, the two eyewitnesses to the murder.

The Circuit Attorney's office apparently accepted reports of volunteers that Sullivan and Donovan had left town and could not be found.

It developed after Rutherford was freed that Sullivan left his Chicago address with the police and expressed willingness to return as a witness, and that Donovan might have been round at the Mayfair Hotel until the first of the year. He, too, bobbed up in Chicago when the investigations started and declared he was willing to return at any time and testify.

Tracing the efforts of the Circuit Attorney's office through the courts, Post-Dispatch reporters discovered that Sidener was relying absolutely in May upon returns made in March as to the "missing" witness.

No Subpoena in Mix's Court.

Adam Doerr, clerk in Judge Mix's court, says no subpoenas were sent to him from the Circuit Attorney's office when the case reached his court, April 16, on change of venue from Judge Frey.

"The Bailiff in Judge Mix's court merely read off the list of witnesses, and told them to appear May 2 for the trial," Doerr said. "Those who hadn't been found by the deputy sheriffs and were not in court of course, never heard the Bailiff and didn't know when the case was set."

There were five settings of the case, three in Judge Frey's court and two before Judge Mix. There were but two sets of subpoenas issued. Those witnesses who were not served the first or second time, lost trace of the case entirely.

The Circuit Attorney's office did not try to keep in touch with the witnesses at all after the case left Judge Frey, except to have the witnesses notified verbally by the Bailiff that the case had been transferred to Judge Mix and that they should appear.

Sidener Blames Bender.

Circuit Attorney Sidener, after public attention was centered upon the Rutherford case by the Post-Dispatch, announced that he had relied upon A. Samuel Bender, member of the Republican City Committee and candidate for Republican nomination for Circuit Judge, to produce the "missing" witness.

Bender, as has been told, had the dual role of "special prosecutor" and damage suit attorney for the mother of Jack Tucker, the Majestic Hotel bellboy who was shot and killed last October by Rutherford, when the latter was drunk. Bender had a single interest—collecting damages for his client and a fee of more than $1000 for himself.

Rutherford's attorneys, who spent about $15,000 to "arrange" matters, agreed with Bender to pay Mrs. Tucker $5500 in settlement of her suit only on condition that Rutherford not go to prison.

Concrete is the aristocrat of pavements

News from Los Angeles About Concrete Streets

Los Angeles now has more concrete streets than any other city in the country—a total of over 220 miles. And they are directly linked with several thousand miles of concrete roads in California, thus forming an extension of one of the most famous highway systems in the world.

Motor traffic from every section of the state flows along these sturdy streets all day and far into the night. This includes countless automobiles, huge trucks loaded to capacity, and buses built like Pullmans.

Only streets paved as the knowledge and experience of the modern highway builder directs could long withstand this punishment. The concrete streets of Los Angeles are doing so year after year.

They are also meeting the stern demand of skid-free safety—even on the steepest grades.

And concrete is the preferred pavement in the residential sections, as well as in the industrial. For its attractive, light gray color makes it the finest looking pavement money can buy, it is always clean and neat, and it always has a true, even surface.

These are some of the reasons why Los Angeles and hundreds of other alert cities are laying concrete streets, and will lay more.

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy.

NO SPECIAL HUNT FOR WITNESSES IN RUTHERFORD CASE

No Effort Made to Find
"Missing" Men Between
April 16 and Acceptance of $500 Fine May 5.

SHERIFF'S OFFICE
BLAMES SIDENER

Deputy Says Circuit Attorney Did Not Follow Usual Practice of Calling for Extra Diligence.

The Circuit Attorney's office made no effort to find the missing witnesses in the Rutherford murder case through the Sheriff's office after the case was taken on change of venue April 16 from Circuit Judge Frey to Circuit Judge Mix.

From that date until May 5, when William Allen Scott Rutherford was permitted to walk away from a second-degree murder indictment on payment of $500 fine on a plea of guilty of manslaughter, the Circuit Attorney issued no subpoenas for the Rutherford witnesses.

Two weeks passed, during which time Circuit Attorney Sidener might have ordered a thorough search for the witnesses. The only attempt he says he made was to send Jake Buckhannon, an employee of his office, on a search for the witnesses two days before the case came up the last time in Judge Mix's court. Buckhannon reported he was unable to find any of the men wanted.

One of the reasons advanced by the State for freeing Rutherford was that "three witnesses who are transients were missing," as was stated by Assistant Circuit Attorney John E. Bowcock in court that day. He also described the State's position as "helpless because of missing witnesses."

Finally Found by Reporters.

Newspaper reporters during the subsequent investigation found all the "missing" witnesses but one, and he was not important.

Only two sets of subpoenas were issued for the Rutherford witnesses. The first set was made returnable in the same court April 19. Each set was issued about a month in advance of the return date. Thus the last search made by the Sheriff's men for the Rutherford witnesses occurred late in March.

Rudolph Lange, chief deputy in the Sheriff's office, who is in charge of the 22 deputies employed to serve summonses, declared yesterday, when questioned by a Post-Dispatch reporter, that had the Circuit Attorney sincerely wished to find the Rutherford witnesses he would have ordered a special search made.

"The Circuit Attorney's office can't pass the buck to us," said Chief Deputy Sheriff Lange. "My men made two attempts to serve the Rutherford subpoenas. I think they did their duty in the ordinary routine way. We have lots of subpoenas to serve and the deputies are rushed. They can't wait around to serve men. In ordinary cases they call at a man's place of business or residence, inquire for him, and leave the subpoena if he is not there. They can't do detective work."

No Special Request Made.

"However, if Sidener really wanted those witnesses in court why didn't he notify me to use special effort in trying to find the witnesses? That has been an established practice of the Circuit Attorney's office. If the Sheriff's office makes 'not-found' returns to the Circuit Attorney, and if he regards the witnesses as important and the case important to his office, always ask me to use extra effort." Then I know that the case really is important and that the Circuit Attorney really wants the witness found. So I put a special man on the job. I tell him to stick to it until he gets service. I tell him to take his time and savor around and wait on men and serve the subpoena if it is possible.

"Why didn't Sidener's office order such a special search? I would have co-operated willingly. As it was, the case came through the usual routine channels. I hardly marked it and didn't know whether the Circuit Attorney's office considered the missing witnesses vital to the case or not."

Reports of Subpoena-Servers.

Investigation of records shows that Edward Comer of 3421 Vulcan Street and John J. Heffernan of 4730 Nemec place were the deputies who served the subpoenas. In the first set of subpoenas issued they reported as follows:

Heffernan was unable to find Matthew T. Burke who was living at the Majestic Hotel at the time. Comer reported inability to locate Ralph Steinhoff and Max S. Reed. Newspaper reporters found both men a few days after the Rutherford investigation started.

The second set of subpoenas on file does not contain a summons for Burke. Apparently the Circuit Blast in Tunnel Kills Youth.

HARRISBURG, Ill., May 19.—George Wells, 18 years old, was killed instantly Sunday in a tunnel being built on the Illinois Central cutoff, by dynamite explosion, and William Ogden was injured badly. The tunnel is 18 miles southwest of here, where the new railroad is crossing the Ozark Mountains.

The proper care of your teeth and gums

5 years old and 52 teeth

FEW parents realize that when a child is four or five years of age, while all the twenty temporary teeth are in place in the mouth, the thirty-two permanent teeth are already formed in the jaw bones. Otherwise they would not say so often: "They're only baby teeth! They'll soon come out. They really don't matter."

They do matter! The regularity and soundness of the permanent teeth, the proper development of the jaw bones and, to a large extent, the normal development of the lower part of the face are influenced by the condition of the temporary teeth.

Decay of baby teeth begins early—as soon as the first ones appear. It occurs most actively in the pits and crevices on the grinding surface of the teeth, and at the vital place where gums and teeth meet—The Danger Line. And it is at The Danger Line, where a tooth-brush cannot reach, that the most dangerous decay is apt to begin.

The selection of safe dentifrice is imperative. Squibb's Dental Cream, made with Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, is ideal for children. It contains more than 50 per cent of pure, palatable Squibb's Milk of Magnesia. Enough to neutralize the dangerous acids in the mouth and to give protection for a considerable time afterwards. Children truly like Squibb's Dental Cream. At all drug stores—only 40c a tube.

SAINT LOUIS

POLICE REROUTE
BEATS FOLLOWING
$33,000 ROBBERY

Holdup of North St. Louis Trust Co., Hastens Action to Afford Protection to Outlying Banks.

Following the holdup yesterday at the North St. Louis Trust Co., 3500 North Grand Boulevard, in which between $33,000 and $35,000 cash was taken, Chief of Police Gerk announced today that a rearrangement of patrolmen's beats was being planned to afford greater protection to banks.

A check on the amount of money taken by the seven robbers at the North Side depository yesterday has not been completed, but Charles W. Owens, secretary-treasurer announced today that the original estimate of $30,000 loss would be exceeded by from $2000 to $5000.

Under the new police plan four beats will converge at each of the outlying banks and a call box will be placed outside the building so that the four policemen can call their station from there every hour. This will insure the presence of a policeman at the bank once every 15 minutes.

"The plan has been in process of formation since March," Chief Gerk said. "It has taken a great deal of rearrangement and will necessitate the moving of call boxes, but it is the only means at hand to protect the banks in view of the small size of our police force."

"When the new system is put in effect beat policemen will be instructed to stop at the bank next to the call box after each call and special officers and sergeants will also be instructed to stop at the banks during the day."

"We believe that the presence of policemen in the vicinity of banks will be deterrent to holdup men just as the presence of 25 new motorcycle men on the streets has done a great deal to cut down speeding in the past few weeks. As a matter of fact, the most effective step toward stamping out robbery would be the addition of 500 new men to our force, which now totals only 1349, as against 2000 for a city like Detroit."

No clew has been found to the identity of the seven men in the robbery yesterday. The automobile they used, a stolen Lincoln touring car, was found today in an alley in rear of 4835 Carrie Avenue, where it was abandoned yesterday. Police believe it was the same machine as was used in an attempt to hold up employees of the People's Motorbus Co. Delmar boulevard garage last week.

Police Seek Missing Youth.
Harold Hesser, 17 years old, is being sought by police women following his disappearance from his home, 3844 Pennsylvania avenue, May 4. His mother, Mrs. Clara Hesser, said the boy had often expressed a desire to work on a farm and believes he has gone to Illinois.

CHANGES BEING BROUGHT ABOUT IN COSTUMES WORN IN TURKEY

Old Style of Dress Disappearing Through Government Decrees and Pressure of Public Opinion.

By the Associated Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 19.—

Through Government taboos and the pressure of public opinion, Turkey's national costumes are disappearing from use.

The Minister of Education has sent an order to the Governor of each province, requiring specimens of the costumes peculiar to each section and class of people to be preserved.

A sign of the changing times is an order at the request of the Denizli Woman's Club that forbids women to appear in the streets in the customary mashikah (a sort of kimono) and towel-like head covering.

For Years the Nation's Favorite LUCKY TIGER

a perfumed toilet necessary for hair—millions swear it. Never-Best Remedy.

MEXICAN PRELATE PROTESTS AGAINST BAN ON NUNCIO

Archbishop Sends Open Letter to Calles Objecting to Expulsion—Proclaims Adherence to Pontiff.

PRISON TERM FOR BISHOP THREATENED

Prosecutor at Trial of Prelate Accused of Criticising Constitution — To Ask for 5-Year Sentence.

By the Associated Press
MEXICO CITY, May 19.—The Most Rev. Monseigneur Del Rio, Archbishop of Mexico City, has published an open letter addressed to President Calles in which protest is made against the order for the deportation of Mgr. Caruana, the Papal Nuncio, who now is on his way to Washington.

The Archbishop decries the deportation order was issued without sufficient cause and constituted another affront to the Holy See by the Mexican Government.

"Mgr. Caruana's deportation is so obviously unjust," says the letter, "that hostility against the Catholic Church will be aggravated. We feel that if the Government is authorized by the Constitution to deport aliens, it must do it with sufficient cause."

"We make before you and the world a most solemn protest and declare our irrevocable adherence to the Pontiff."

Despatches from Mexico say that at preliminary hearings in the case of the Catholic Bishop Sarate, the Prosecuting Attorney announced that he intended to request the Court to sentence the prelate to five years' imprisonment.

The Bishop is charged with having written a pastoral letter declaring that the religious clauses of the Constitution themselves constituted a violation of the Constitution.

Letter of Catholic Conference to President Coolidge.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, May 19.—The National Catholic Welfare Conference has made public a letter sent by its Administrative Committee to President Coolidge, in which grave anxiety was expressed "because of the injury and the growing danger to our own country and to international good will upon this hemisphere caused by the present conduct of the Government of Mexico."

At the same time it made public a communication from Secretary Kellogg replying for the President, in which he said he would seek an opportunity informally to bring the fact of your protest and other like protests to the attention of the Mexican Ambassador in Washington.

The committee's letter was dated April 23 last and the Secretary's April 27.

"There is no need," said the committee, "to rehearse the provisions of the present Mexican Constitution which wipe out every vestige of religious liberty and deny to every priest or minister of the gospel of any and every denomination the inalienable rights of a free man."

The result has been the setting up on this Continent of a government which we believe are the very life of our country, and the agents of that Government of Mexico are disseminating those principles through the public press and through their own propaganda literature.

Political opponents of the said Government have been driven into our own country or have taken refuge there. Their presence is not conducive to peace. • • • We are conscious of the limitations of the influence of one Government upon another and the difficulties of diplomatic relations. • • • We know of and wish to give public appreciation of the constant effort which our own Government has taken to voice and advance the American principles whenever suitable opportunity presented itself.

"We know of the deep interest of Your Excellency and the other high officials of the Government in the individual cases that have been brought before you and of the measure you have taken to ameliorate the condition of American citizens who have suffered in Mexico from religious persecution. We petition a continuation of those good offices and of your watchful interest."

The committee's letter was signed by Archbishops Hanna of San Francisco and Dowling of St. Paul, and Bishops Muldoon of Rockford, Schrembs of Cleveland, Gibbons of Albany, McDevitt of Harrisburg and Fallis of Kansas City.

Archbishop Caruana Arrives in CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., May 19.—"I am very happy that evidence to prove the truth of my claims has been given," Archbishop George J. Caruana, papal nuncio recently expelled from Mexico for alleged illegal entry into that country, said on his arrival here from Mexico.

He will leave here today for San Antonio, where he expects to visit friends in the army, with some of whom he served in the Philippines 17 years ago. From San Antonio, he will go to Washington, probably by way of St. Louis.

PRISONER ADMITS HE HAS TWO WIVES

C. W. Eichhorn, Formerly of Evansville, Ind., Arrested Here on Bigamy Charge.

Carl W. Eichhorn, who ran a prosperous pie bakery at Evansville, Ind., until conflict between his two wives prompted him to leave town, is at Central District holdover trying a figure a way out. He wants to be true to wife No. 2, he says, but wife No. 1 will not approve of divorce.

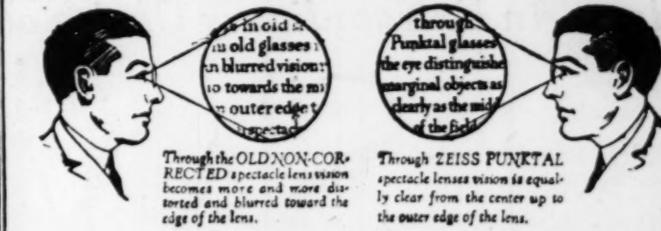

Eichhorn maintains his bigamy is not intentional. He asserted that he deserted wife No. 1, Mrs. Lois Eichhorn, a 4-year-old daughter and the pie business a year ago and went to Cincinnati. She wrote him, he said, that she had obtained a divorce, whereupon he married Mrs. Eva Clinard and returned to Evansville, only to find he had two wives.

He tried to make the best of his difficulty, he said, and returned to No. 1 and the pie business about Jan. 1. Wife No. 1 wanted him to annul the second marriage, and he pleaded for a divorce, he declared, and finally threw up everything and came to St. Louis with No. 2.

Yesterday wife No. 1 arrived in St. Louis. She learned from Eichhorn's sister, Mrs. Sophia Jarboe of 3844 Westminster place, that her husband and the second Mrs. Eichhorn were employed at Forest Park Highlands in charge of concessions. The couple were arrested last night in their room at 1323 South Jefferson avenue.

Eichhorn says he will stick to wife No. 2 whatever happens. Wife No. 2 says she will be true to Eichhorn. It is expected that No. 1 will seek a higher warrant, but neither she nor Mrs. Jarboe, with whom she is staying, could be reached for a statement.

CABINET APPROVES NEW LABOR CONTROL

Government Has Right to Alter Contracts—Associations for All Workers and Employers.

The Associated Press

ROME, May 19.—The Democratic-Liberal State has been destroyed, and in its place rises a "Fascist State," declared Premier Mussolini in a proclamation to the people of Italy today upon the adoption of the new system of relationship between capital and labor.

Though non-Italians will not be permitted to be members of the new associations, they will profit by collective labor contracts and pay dues.

Special associations, with more restricted liberties, are provided for employees of the state administrative services, savings banks, national banks, railways and postal and telegraphic services.

Since the system intends to control the relations between labor and capital, all associations of non-producers will be dissolved; only laborers and employers will be permitted to belong to the Fascist associations, but intermediary classes, like small landholders, or renters, shopkeepers and all persons who work or employ labor, even for short periods, generally will be given places in the associations.

The confederations are restricted to controlling mutual aid, instruction and education. The present Fascist Confederation of Labor Unions will be retained temporarily in order not to destroy its organization work. The initial duty of the labor courts will be to attempt to settle a dispute amicably by discussion and negotiation, exercising their powers only when absolutely necessary.

Attitude of Press.

The Rome newspapers exult over the adoption of the new system, characterizing it as the final victorious battle in Fascism's war against the democratic state.

Some sections of Fascism, notably the labor organizations, which are superseded under the new regulation, declared by remaining silent that they are not overthrown.

In political circles it is viewed as a crushing victory for Minister of Justice Rocco, who drew up the measure.

Over the Syndicalist element represented by Edmondo Rossoni, who perfected the Fascist labor organization and succeeded in enlisting the support of labor for Fascism.

The Cabinet last night approved new Fascist system for control labor and capital and to prevent strikes and lockouts.

THIRTEEN NATIONAL ASSOCIATIONS.

Through the new ministry of labor, it is the purpose of Government to control the unproductive life of the nation.

Fascist employers, unions and associations are to be deprived of powers.

Thirteen national associations, including all classes of laborers and employers, will be formed.

Labor disputes must be submitted to compulsory arbitration, such special courts will be created.

Italians will not be allowed membership in the new national associations. Separate associations to be formed for intellectual manual laborers. There will be organizations for such professions as medicine, law and journalism, and for artists and artisans.

Government is given the right to insist upon changes in the contracts of any sort.

Individual contracts are permitted, provided they conform to collective contracts.

Imprisonment will be imposed by special courts when strikes and lockouts are called, notwithstanding the efforts of those who strike are planned by violence.

TWO LABOR CONFEDERATIONS.

The instruments capital and labor, both manual and intellectual, Cabinet's decision announced yesterday, says, "are no longer opposed to the state and its essential organs, but are inserted vitally into organic organism."

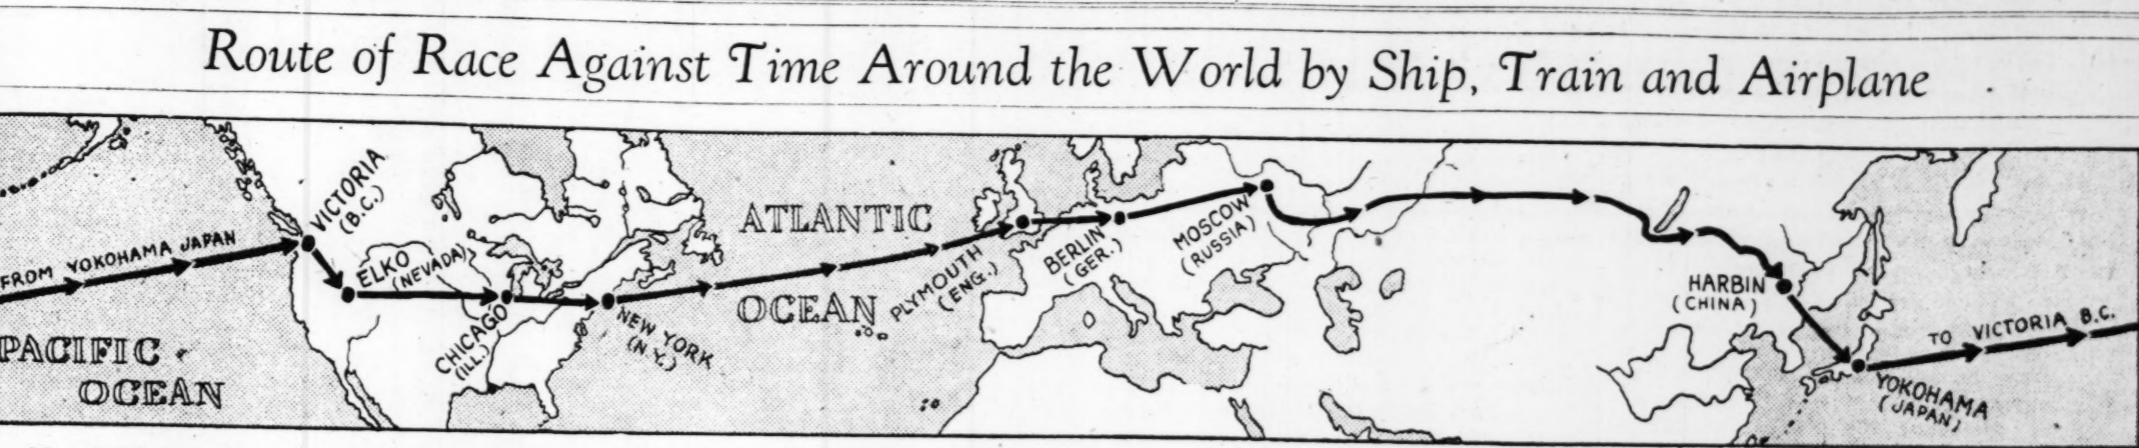

Under the plan, three national federations of the various associations will be formed. The three federations are for workers, employers and professional people.

An undetermined number of corporations are to be created as instruments of control by the Ministry of Corporations over the Association of Confederations.

Those public service workers are to be banded in special types of associations.

Labor disputes must be submitted to compulsory arbitration, such special courts for the settlement of labor disputes will be created.

A new labor code is to be adopted by legal codex providing

AROUND WORLD IN 31 DAYS GOAL OF MEN WHO SAIL TODAY

Airplane Counted on by Two New Yorkers to Beat Record of 35 Days, 21 Hours, Set in 1913 by an American.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 19.—Two Americans will sail east on the Mauretania today in an attempt to make a new record in traveling around the earth.

John Goldstrom and E. Morris Titterington embark on the sixth of those spherical marathons begun by the famous Phileas Fogg, globe-trotter, who was born back in 1872 by Jules Verne out of imagination. Fogg was the hero of "A Tour of the World in Eighty Days."

Goldstrom and Titterington will try to make Fogg look like a piker. Using ship and rail and air they hope to homeward around the terrestrial globe and back to the Cunard pier at New York in 31 days or less.

By that time they will have picked up an extra sunrise along the way. They will be one day older than if they had stayed in one spot. They will have gone around the spinning world as the marble goes round against the spinning roulette wheel. On that they are banking. It is a gambler's game and time is their opponent.

Ever since "Around the World in Eighty Days" was published the terrestrial globe has been shrinking, not in dimensions, but in time.

Faster transportation made Verne's fiction reality and presumably a joke to slowness. Ships changed for steam, stage coach and camel gave way to the locomotive.

In 1889 while Verne still lived

Morris Titterington, aeronautic engineer, and John Goldstrom, aviation writer, will sail from New York today, beginning a race against time around the world. They will use airplanes for most of their land travel in an attempt to discover how much this means of transportation has shortened the time necessary to circle the globe.

The itinerary includes Plymouth, Berlin, Moscow, Harbin, Yokohama, Victoria, Elko, Nev., and Chicago. The trans-Siberian railway may be used from Moscow to Harbin.

NEW CHANCELLOR OUTLINES GERMAN FOREIGN POLICY

London and Locarno Pacts Will Continue to Guide Country, Marx Tells Reichstag.

By the Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 18.—

Owen D. Young, co-author of the Dawes plan of international reparations payments and chairman of the board of the General Electric Co., today proposed a compromise of the 30-year controversy over public vs. private ownership of water power.

"Perhaps we must face then as the next issue—ownership by the Federal Government of the power facilities of the United States. In face of well nigh universal objection to a greater centralization in Washington, it seems scarcely worth while to debate this question now. Our knowledge must be vastly wider and our experience more satisfactory before the people of this country will consent to vesting of such tremendous power in the bureau of the Federal Government. I dismiss the matter now with that statement.

The water must be used," he told delegates and representatives of the public utility companies of the United States attending the first general session of the annual convention of the National Electric Light Association here.

Young proposed that the Federal Government act as a gigantic holding company for a system of regional public corporations. The stock of each corporation would be owned by the Government but each corporation would finance its regional enterprise with its own securities. He led to his proposal as follows:

"It seems to me that the experience of the last quarter century shows that efficiency and economy of operation is best accomplished by private ownership. I have had the opportunity during the last few years to observe the operation of publicly owned enterprises in most of the principal countries of the world. By and large their efficiency in service is markedly less than that of private companies.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

What Many Golf Players Want.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ALLOW me to express to you, and the public at large, a few words concerning an erroneous statement that was published regarding a petition which is being circulated by the Muny golf players.

The statement was that the golf players of St. Louis are complaining about the condition of the golf courses in Forest Park, and are seeking to enlist the co-operation of Hon. Mayor Miller, to bring about enough pressure to correct this condition by causing to be circulated a petition which, when properly signed by all Muny golfers, will be presented to our Mayor. Now, there was, or is, nothing farther from the truth such as is not the object of this petition.

The real object, and has been very prettily explained now, at least, is a demand for temporary quarters where all who enjoy any of the games of sport can check clothes and wash and clean up after such indulgence. Unfortunately, the fire last fall at the Lindell pavilion deprived the public of this convenience.

rather, necessity, and the players having been promised a temporary place of this kind, until the completion of the new building, are clamoring now for action, as it will be useless to sustain anything of this sort after the season is over.

We are well nearing the month of June, when all sports will be at their height, and nothing as yet has been done along this line, other than to talk about it, and because of various statements published in the dailies, promising these things.

A statement was also made in the same article that the Muny links, where a fee of $10 is charged for the privilege of playing, cannot be compared to the links of different country clubs, where the same privilege costs hundreds of dollars.

Does the sponsor of that article think for one moment that we Muny players are not aware of that fact?

Personally, I am a member of another club, but even I like to play the Muny at times, but I cannot do so under the existing conditions.

What Interests the Public.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WHAT'S wrong with the country? One answer may be found in this column. A spectacular murder takes place and the good public is excited to prate for weeks about it in a childish manner, rarely touching on fundamental conditions.

I have been glancing at these letters for years and the subject of street cars seem to be as fresh and lively a topic as ever. Art, music, literature, government: these are seldom mentioned by our respectable readers. The good work of the Post-Dispatch on the English case leaves them unmoved. These things matter nothing; they aren't worth while.

ONLY for snobs and crackbrains. O Lord what children! LITTLE BO-PEEP.

Are Criminals Responsible?
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE Post-Dispatch of Sunday, May 9, carries an article on the crime conditions in Chicago. The writer made an effort to place the blame for such conditions almost entirely on the officials of the county. They must come in for their share, I freely admit. But there is another phase of the situation which escaped the attention of the writer of that article. Much of the crime can be traced back to its cause to the wretched philosophy of some of our great lawyers.

When a man declares that a rational being is not accountable for his criminal actions, and when the newspapers give publicity to at least a negative approval of such thought, then we should not wonder that those who are so taught are perfectly willing to act according to this teaching. If the dispensers of justice become imbued with such philosophy, then we might as well quit trying to secure justice and we shall soon be forced to return to the hated principle that might is right.

Crime flourishes because crime goes unpunished and crime goes unpunished because public sentiment is often opposed to the punishment of criminals, and this sentiment among the public may be traced logically to such publications as those of such men as Clarence Darrow. It is wrong to blame for what I do them what I cannot help doing.

T. L. SCHAEFER.

Garbage Nuisance in the County.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IS there not some way that the residents of the county can dispose of their garbage? In winter it is easy enough, for everyone takes the method of burning it, but when summer time comes the condition is really critical, as well as very unsanitary. It seems like the only thing a person can do is to dig holes in the yard and bury it, for it is impossible to get anyone to haul it away, and it becomes a very unhealthy proposition.

Some even resort to throwing it on the open lots and in the alleys. The residents of the county, I am sure, would be glad to pay for the expense of having their garbage collected.

This is a matter that the State Health Department ought to look into. Cannot something be done to remedy this condition?

"A COUNTY RESIDENT."

THE STEIN WON AND MONEY
FLOWED IN PENNSYLVANIA.

The nomination of Representative William S. Vare for the United States senatorship in Pennsylvania seems assured. In 6000 out of 8000 precincts he had a lead of 120,000, with the rural districts giving him a much better vote than was anticipated. He carried Philadelphia by about 200,000, whereas Pittsburg, the Mellon stronghold, gave Pepper only about 10,000.

Mr. Vare may be all that his enemies charge. He may be an unscrupulous boss. He may be striving to wear the late Senator Penrose's shoes as the boss of Pennsylvania. But one thing can be said of him: he is no pussyfoot. He entered the race as an antiprohibitionist. He was flat-footed in his declaration for the modification of the Volstead act, and stood by his guns, having Gov. Pinchot, a bone-dry candidate, and Senator Pepper, a political dry, running against him. The result is a smashing victory against Volsteadism in so far as any issue outside of the slush fund can be said to have influenced the Pennsylvania election.

Congressman Vare won by a big plurality over Pepper, the administration's candidate, supported by all the wealth and power of Secretary Mellon and Pinchot, an apostle of dryness, running third. Bone-dry came in last.

We remarked that antiprohibition won in Pennsylvania, if any issue besides money can be said to have controlled the election. We made that remark advisedly. We say without qualification, if the testimony of those who knew most about the campaign can be relied on, that the Pennsylvania senatorial primary was the most corrupt campaign in the history of American politics.

Estimates of expenditures in the campaign range from $2,000,000, the lowest, to $5,000,000. The Evening World's correspondent declared that not less than $2,000,000 had been spent in the campaign. The New York Times correspondent placed the amount expended at $5,000,000. The news from Pennsylvania just before the election was that the Mellon machine had every political resource that money could command. The leading place in the slush fund contest was given to Senator Pepper, candidate of Mr. Coolidge and his Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Mellon. Senator Pepper had the unique position of this kind, until the completion of the new building, are clamoring now for action, as it will be useless to sustain anything of this sort after the season is over.

We are well nearing the month of June, when all sports will be at their height, and nothing as yet has been done along this line, other than to talk about it, and because of various statements published in the dailies, promising these things.

The money and political power, therefore, having been unequally divided, with Representative Vare second, at least, if not third in that rating, the victory for anti-Volsteadism may be regarded as all the more pronounced.

The issue between wet and dry having been settled in favor of wet, the election raises another issue of great import in American politics. It is the issue of money power in politics. Is the purpose to control? Are elections to be decided by the size of the slush funds? Are enormous slush funds to become a recognized and frequently deciding factor in elections? That issue was raised in the Newberry case. Newberry was accused in the Senate, in 1922, with having spent $195,000 to win the senatorial nomination over Henry Ford. The case was a stench in the nostrils of America. The Senate declared that such an expenditure of money in a campaign "was contrary to sound public policy." The Senate "severely condemned and disapproved such expenditures in future" as "dangerous to the perpetuity of a free Government" and "harmful to the honor and dignity of the Senate." That was what the Senate declared on Jan. 12, 1922. What will it say about the expenditure of millions in the Pennsylvania senatorial primary in May, 1926? What will it say about the enormous expenditure of money in behalf of the candidate of the Coolidge administration, the special candidate of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who is credited with having used every resource of money and influence to obtain his nomination?

If the senatorial conscience couldn't stand the expenditure of $195,000 in 1922, what will be its reaction to the expenditure of from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000 in 1926, under such high auspices as the pure administration of Mr. Coolidge?

It will be interesting to note whether the senatorial conscience has deteriorated in proportion to the growth of the slush fund.

Important discoveries are announced on the battlefield of Armageddon. Wonder if they have found the spot where Col. Roosevelt stood.

ARE GOOD WILL TOURS EFFECTIVE?

Ninety-two business executives, members of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, have just returned from a "Good Will Tour" through the states of Arkansas and Louisiana. Thirty-eight cities were visited in one week's time.

What is the potential or actual value of such an expedition? Does it really promote good will, i.e., a closer relationship, a greater friendliness, between these representatives of St. Louis and the good people of the many cities visited?

A partial answer to these questions is found in the fact that the news constantly referred to reception committees, bands, flower girls, automobile rides, special editions of newspapers, decorated streets, special window displays, breakfasts, dinners and dances, all in honor of the visiting delegation. It is fair to say that these evidences of hospitable activities on the part of civic bodies are a positive expression of interest and good. They will lead to a closer community of business interests.

As a side light on this trip, it appears that many of the St. Louis business representatives had never before visited this Southland territory, which absorption so large a volume of their products. They confidently journeyed South to sell St. Louis, loaded with a choice selection of home-laudatory expressions, ready for instant use. However, they found a new land, whose people, with pardonable pride, had a fine assortment of well-vocalized superlatives of their own.

With commendable fortitude and patience, each has listened to the other's "greatest in the world," and thereby cemented a lasting friendship. Certainly a good will tour pays.

BANK ROBBERY NO. 4.

Yesterday's Wild West holdup of the North St. Louis Trust Co., where six robbers held 40 customers and employees at bay and escaped with $30,000, is the fourth bank robbery since the first of the year.

On Feb. 17 $800 was obtained at the Water Tower Bank. On March 5 the Hamilton State Bank was robbed of $1200. On May 8 the Hodiamont Bank was relieved of $15,000. There were no bank robberies in 1925, after the present Police Board took office, on March 21, excepting one on March 30, when a messenger of the Cass Avenue Bank was robbed of $960.

Chief Clerk, in his annual report, had occasion to mention the recession of this type of crime during the incumbency of the present administration. There had been 15 bank robberies in the year ending March 1, 1925.

But this year the bank holdup business seems to have hit its old stride. At the present rate, an average of one a month since February, the record of two years ago is threatened unless the police find means to curb it.

Yesterday's robbery was particularly spectacular. It occurred in the middle of the morning, in a busy part of North St. Louis, and was conducted in a daring manner. Fortunately, no one was injured or killed, since bandits who engage in such desperate forays are usually ruthless with their pistols.

Because of the bold nature of bank robberies, there is less excuse for their prevalence than for the prevalence of other crimes. In a well-policed city the bank robbery business doesn't pay very well. The St. Louis force had better tighten its belt a notch if it is to maintain last year's good record.

THE DUCE VERSUS THE MAESTRO.

What promises to be a cause celebre in Italy is the feud between Mussolini and Toscanini, which recently caused the sudden departure from Milan of the musician before the close of the season at La Scala. Toscanini had reappeared on the French Riviera, very wrothy indeed over Mussolini and his Fascist ideas. At La Scala the bassoons are wallowing over their lost leader, and the violins set up an angry pizzicato. For La Scala and Toscanini, in these latter years, are one and indivisible, and when the maestro once left La Scala for an American tour the old theater languished.

It seems that the trouble between Mussolini and Toscanini has been simmering for three years, and it centers around the maestro's refusal to have his orchestra play "Giovanna," the Fascist hymn, on Rome Day, April 21, which has become a great national fete. Each year on this occasion, Toscanini has seen that La Scala has remained closed on some pretext or other. Recently, when "Turnado," Puccini's last unfinished work was produced at La Scala, Mussolini refused to attend because Toscanini had balked at the Fascist hymn.

Pressure was again used on Toscanini to play it, but he replied: "Never and for nobody." From his asylum at Mentone he hurls such defiance as this at the Duce: "I refuse to turn the Scala into a market place for Fascist demonstrations. They put the square outside and also the Galleria nearby for that, but while I conduct the Scala orchestra it will remain the home of opera and never will it become a propaganda platform."

We think Mussolini has put his hand in a hornet's nest. It's all very well for him to exercise his might in the realm of politics and industry, but when he tries to extend his dictatorship over music the Italian gorge must rise. Music in Italy is sacrosanct, and Toscanini represents music in its finest flowering.

The ordinary music-crazy Italian, as is well known, wouldn't exchange a Verdi or a Mascagni or a Toscanini for a whole carload of Cavarots, Mazzinis and Mussolinis.

THE PYROMANIC.

Arson, when the incendiary is a normal individual, is one of the worst of crimes, as it may not only cause great destruction of property but loss of life.

William Kaufman, sentenced to the penitentiary as a common firebug, was pronounced by Dr. William Nelson, director of the Municipal Psychiatric Clinic, to be a pyromaniac. Although only 23 years of age, Kaufman had kindled nine fires, causing damage totaling $350,000, the last one in a lumber yard, where a loss of $100,000 resulted. He was released from the State Penitentiary Dec. 26, after serving part of a two-year sentence for arson. He confessed to Dr. Nelson that he set these fires for the thrill it gave him. And the testimony of those who know him is to the effect that prison sentences only tend to further impair his mental condition. He will probably come out of prison ready to set more fires, not so much because he may feel revengeful as because nothing will have been done to cure him of his disease.

For that pyromania is a real disease, or at any rate the symptom of a diseased or injured brain, is a fact in pathology. As in other forms of mental derangement, the pyromaniac may appear normal for periods. Then he suffers a condition of depression and this is followed by an obsession to set something on fire, the act relieving a mental tension that has become intolerable.

Juries that can see nothing except vicious crime in such cases and send the mentally sick to prison undo the work of psychiatric clinics and, by condemning the sufferer to prison, prevent any effort at his cure in a sanitarium. Such verdicts also ignore the danger to society in letting loose individuals who may do greater damage than that for which they have been punished.

MR. BREWSTER'S ABERRATION.

An astonishing statement was made by R. R. Brewster of Kansas City in his talk at Columbia to a banquet audience of lawyers and Judges.

If the newspapers were sincere in their stand for the enforcement of law, he is quoted, "they would publish the news of crime only when the criminal has been brought to bay, never has been tried and convicted in the sense Mr. Brewster used the terms, and accordingly the slaying, with its wretched aftermath, would all be concealed in the shroud of silence.

Later, Mr. Brewster qualified his statement vaguely by remarking that "perhaps I should not have gone so far as that." The retraction is inadequate. The whole hypothesis should be withdrawn as a silly and utterly vicious proposal.

With commendable fortitude and patience, each has listened to the other's "greatest in the world," and thereby cemented a lasting friendship. Certainly a good will tour pays.

BALLADE OF DEEP DISDAIN.

In buying books I take delight,
I love to see my treasures grow;
When I have reached ambition's height
For volumes all my self will go;

With Plato I have passed much time,
With Dante has my spirit soared,
I'd buy a book with my last dime,
But I don't care to own a Ford.

If I had cash, I'd buy a sheep

In any of the well-known styles,

And then, should my gay spirits droop

I'd sell the sea—at least three miles;

I prize good wine of rare bouquet,

I love the pleasures of the board,

For meat and drink I gladly pay

But I don't care to own a Ford.

We're all rich as ancient kings,

Or if I had the Midas touch,

I'd buy myself full many things

I'd sell my gold with lavish hand,

Provided I'd a handsome hoard,

My style of living would be grand,

But I don't care to own a Ford.

We're all rich as ancient kings,

Or if I had the Midas touch,

I'd buy

CUENDET-DRUMMOND
WEDDING LATE TODAY

Ceremony to Take Place in Home of Bride's Parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene R. Cuendet.

CONSPICUOUS among the nota-ble spring weddings is that of Miss Rachel Lee Cuendet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene R. Cuendet, and Kenneth Drummond, son of Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Drummond, late this afternoon.

The crescent-shaped sunroom in the Cuendet home at 4 Hortense place, lined with huckleberry vines, will form an ideal setting for the ceremony, which will be performed by the Rev. Dr. Edward S. Travers of St. Peter's Epiphany Church. Only white blossoms, roses, larkspur and snapdragons have been used in the decorations. Clusters of them adorn the lower floor room and silver trumpet vases of snapdragons with a pair of seven-branched candelabra mark the altar. The bridal party will walk through an aisle of satin ribbon with flowers topping each post, while an orchestra plays the wedding music.

The bride will wear ivory satin embellished with the rose point and lace lace yoke and long sleeves worn by Mrs. Cuendet at her wedding. The flared scalloped skirt is caught into a buckle of orange blossoms in front. More of her mother's wedding lace is applied with orange blossoms to the chiffon-lined satin court train and edges of tulip yoke to be worn to her hair with lace bandeau and orange blossoms. She will carry her mother's ivory and gold prayer book marked with white satin ribbon and a shower of lilles of the valley.

The bridesmaids, Miss Frances Collins, Miss Trishelle Hoblitzelle, Mrs. John Jay Johns and Mrs. Marion Niedrichthal will wear colorful chiffon frocks of a peachblow shade flowered with blue and purple over lavender chiffon made with short full skirts, long flowing sleeves and surprise bodices. They will wear large untrimmed garden hats of fine peach-colored straw and shoes and stockings to match. They will carry snapdragons in peach shades and blue delphinium tied with peach ribbon.

The maid-of-honor will be bowed in a long-waisted bouffant frock of peach taffeta with layers of rose tulip edging the long skirt. She will wear no hat. Her flowers are to be purple larkspur and snapdragons.

Douglas Drummond of Syracuse, N. Y., will be his brother's best man and Hamilton Drummond of New York, Major Niedrichthal, John Jay Jones, Winston Johns, Harry E. Papin Jr., Paul Moser, George Lovell and Eldridge Snyder of Summit, N. J., groomsman.

A reception with a bridal dinner will follow the ceremony. The bridal table in the shape of a hollow square has been laid in the green and gold reception room and will seat 26 guests, including Mr. and Mrs. William H. Luynes, Miss Elizabeth Luynes, Miss Marie Nugent, Henry Cook and Mr. Kent of Chicago in addition to the bridal party. The square is filled with ferns and flowers with the wedding cake and lilles of the valley as the centerpiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Cathin of Webster Groves announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Deborah Catlin, and Robert Arthur Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Westfall Williams, of 210 Park boulevard, Webster Groves.

The news was told to Miss Catlin's close friends at a bridge luncheon given by her mother today at their home. The prospective bride attended Washington University and is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Mr. Williams is an alumnus of Penn State University and is a member of Kappa Sigma sorority.

The wedding will take place June 19.

a new record

Previous to 1926 the biggest month in General Motors history was April 1923, when the public purchased 105,778 General Motors cars.

March 1926 broke this record—106,051 cars.

Now comes the April total—136,643—a new high mark.

Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Oakland, Buick, Cadillac—all showed impressive gains. They occupy distinctive fields; they are produced and marketed by different organizations, but these four General Motors principles apply to all alike: (1) quality first and foremost; (2) the economies of a big organization passed on to the purchaser; (3) low finance charges and fair terms; (4) performance, appearance, comfort and safety, combined to give maximum value in each price class.

Store Run by Women Voters' League Returns 230 Per Cent.

The Economy Shop, 2160 Franklin avenue, which is maintained by the St. Louis League of Women Voters, has returned 230 per cent on the original investment of several years ago, it was announced in a recent league report.

The income from the shop last year was $5711.22. Frocks ranging in price from $1 to $15 were displayed at a fashion promenade held recently by the league, and a number of sales were made.

Measure Proposed by Judiciary Committee Chairman Is Said to Have Backing of Andrews.

Special to the Post-Dispatch Post-Dispatch Bureau, 29-23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Senate Judiciary Committee, composed largely of dry Senators, went far from the views and desires of Treasury officials when it amended the Goff bill; so as to turn issuing of alcohol permits over to courts.

Representative Graham of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, has introduced a bill to correct this. It was asserted at the capitol today by friends of Lincoln C. Andrews, dry chief, that he was behind the Graham movement.

The Graham bill is identical with the Goff bill, reported favorably to the Senate, but differs in some respects.

It eliminates the provision in Section 3, giving the Prohibition Commissioner the authority to surprise the use of all permits and to refuse to issue or to refuse to renew any such permits at their expiration when, in his "reasonable discretion," the issuance or the renewal thereof would tend to defeat the purposes of the Volstead act. This original proposal was opposed by scientific men and commercial organizations.

The Graham bill omits the language in Section 3 of the Goff bill broadening the power of courts of equity in reviewing the action of the Prohibition Commissioner in refusing to issue or renew any permit and strikes from it the amendment of Senator Reed of Missouri, providing that on any appeal from an order of the commissioner in refusing to renew a permit the court of equity may direct the issuance of a temporary permit effective until appeal shall be determined.

Senator Reed gave the permit provision of the Goff bill such a twist that the drys consider it dangerous. They will support the Graham bill. This brings about an interesting situation in Congress. Senator Goff, who introduced the Senate committee bill, is a dry; and Representative Graham who has gone to the rescue of the drys is a liberal on wet.

The Senate bill says that the court of equity, "in reviewing the action of the commissioner in refusing either to issue or renew a permit, shall not be limited to the consideration of the question as to whether there has been an abuse of the discretion exercised by the Commissioner, but the court shall review the whole proceeding and enter such order as the facts and the law of the case may warrant."

This goes too far for the drys. They prefer the simple provision in the Graham bill, which, after limiting permits to one year and giving the commissioner discretion to renew them, adds:

"Nothing in this section shall be held to deny to the permittee the right to review by a court of equity, as provided in the national prohibition act."

TWO TRAINMEN HURT IN MO-PAC FREIGHT WRECK

Nine Cars of Coal Derailed at Valley Park Block Line for Several Hours.

A section crew on the Missouri Pacific Railroad had just derailed a rail near a siding switch at Valley Park to replace it yesterday noon when a west-bound freight train arrived. The train could not be stopped in time to avoid the gap and the locomotive and the first nine cars, which were gondolas carrying coal, were derailed.

Some of the cars were overturned, but 24 others remained on the rails. The engineer, Charles M. Golden, 37 years old, of 1449 Carr Lane avenue, and the fireman jumped. Golden suffered a sprained knee, but the fireman was not injured. Alexander C. Bonnie, 27, of 5619 Maple avenue, a brakeman, who was on the locomotive, had his left hand mashed.

Damage was estimated at $4250. Missouri Pacific trains were detoured over the Frisco Railway until the line was cleared, about 8 o'clock last night.

NEW RIFLE RANGE RECORD

Marine Corporal Makes 347 Points Out of a Possible 350.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 19.—Corp. Francis J. Shannon, United States Marine Barracks, at Bremerton, Wash., has established what marine officers believe is a new world's rifle range record.

Shannon made 347 points out of a possible 350 to lead the field of 118 riflemen competing here in the annual championship competition for the Western division of the Marine Corps. His mark is two points higher than the previous championship score, for the standard United States regulation course. He dropped three points of the 50 in the 200-yard slow-fire event, turning in perfect scores in the remaining six ranges at slow and rapid-fire.

Man Injured in Fall on Sidewalk. Tony Costello, 47 years old, of 1407 Francis street, was taken to city hospital from his home yesterday suffering from a fractured skull, spine and ribs. He told policemen he fell on the sidewalk in front of 3519 Easton avenue last Saturday.

SENTENCE HALTED BY JUDGE ENGLISH ORDERED SERVED

Bootlegger Who Escaped
Going to Jail for 60 Days,
Directed Committed by U. S. Judge Lindley.

PLEADED GUILTY
IN MAY, 1922

C. B. Thomas, Former Referee in Bankruptcy, Was the Attorney for A. M. Bell.

United States District Judge Walter Lindley of Danville, sitting in Federal Court in East St. Louis, today ordered the United States Marshal to arrest A. M. Bell to serve a 60-day jail sentence which had been suspended three times and never executed on by Federal Judge English, who is not holding court pending trial of impeachment proceedings against him by the United States Senate Nov. 10.

The order of execution was entered by Judge Lindley at the request of District Attorney Potter, who also called the Court's attention to another case in which sentence has been deferred because of Judge English's failure to pass on a motion for a new trial, which was argued last December. The case was that of Abe Hicks, Herrin Police Magistrate, and Sam Childers, former Deputy Constable of Herrin, who were convicted of conspiracy to impersonate Government officials by a Judge in Judge English's court Nov. 14 last. Thomas Attorney for Prisoner.

Bell entered a plea of guilty of liquor law violation before Judge English May 9, 1922, and was fined $200 and sentenced to 60 days in Jackson County, Ill., jail. C. B. Thomas, former Referee in Bankruptcy in Judge English's court, and recipient of many other lucrative appointments by Judge English, appealed as Bell's attorney.

District Attorney Potter informed Judge Lindley today that the court records show Judge English suspended execution of the jail sentence for 60 days when the plea was entered, suspended sentence for another 60 days on June 30, and for six months on Aug. 29, 1922. Potter said that was the last court order entered in the case according to the records.

No Request for Suspension.

Court records do not show the reason for suspension of sentence in the Bell case.

Federal officials do not know where Bell is.

Testimony was introduced before a Congressional Committee here last year investigating Judge English of a similar case that of Francis J. Skye, East St. Louis druggist, who obtained suspension of a prison sentence by Judge English after he employed Thomas as his counsel following his conviction. The testimony showed he paid Thomas a $2500 fee. Thomas presented affidavits of physicians that Skye's life would be endangered if forced to serve a term in prison due to ill health.

Hicks and Childers, both leaders in the Ku Klux Klan, are subject to terms in Federal penitentiary as the result of their conviction, but District Attorney Potter informed Judge Lindley he is in a quandary as to how to proceed against them. Judge Lindley inquired if proceedings in the case were reported by a court reporter and when informed they had been, he announced that he would ask Judge English if he wished him to pass on the motion. If Judge English wants this done, Judge Lindley said he would familiarize himself with the record and pass on the motion within a short time. After the motion is passed on sentence may be pronounced.

Another Sentence Suspended.

Judge Lindley yesterday entered an order at the District Attorney's request, for Ralph Lewis, former railroad switchman of Mound City, to appear next Tuesday for sentence on a charge of complicity in the theft of three barrels of alcohol from an interstate shipment in December, 1922.

Lewis was indicted early in 1921, but was not arrested until last fall, when he was found at St. Petersburg, Fla. He appeared before Judge English shortly afterward and presented certificates of two doctors that he was suffering from tuberculosis. He pleaded guilty and Judge English suspended sentence for six months. This suspension expired May 3 and when Lewis didn't appear the case was continued until yesterday, when another affidavit was presented in Lewis' behalf.

DESERT STATES HOLD VAST AREAS OF TIMBER LAND

268,000,000 Board Feet Taken
From New Mexico and Arizona Last Year.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 19.—Mention of New Mexico and Arizona as forest states would get a laugh out of the average person, because the popular fancy that this section is part of the "Great American Desert," sprinkled with cacti and yucca.

Last year 268,000,000 board feet of lumber was taken from the two states.

Service disclose the fact that one-fifth of the total area of these states is timber, chiefly yellow pine. The total timbered area comprises 36,500,000 acres estimated to contain 27,000,000,000 feet of saw timber and 63,000,000,000 cords of wood.

An unbroken stretch of yellow pine extends from the country west of the Elephant Butte dam in New Mexico to the rim of the Grand Canyon and across into the Kaibab National Forest.

BARS SHORT SKIRTS IN ONE COUNTY SCHOOL

Ritenour Board Drops Two Teachers Who Wear "What's in Style."

Regardless of fashions in Paris, New York or St. Louis, skirts are going to be long at 5712 Poest Avenue, Overland, St. Louis County. That is the address of the Midland public school, and its pupils are going to be protected from the sight of teachers' knees.

To make assurance doubly sure, as the poets put it, the Ritenour Consolidated School District Board has decided to have new teachers in the first and third grades next year. The pupils in these grades average 6 to 8 years.

Miss Ethel Larkin of 589 Garden Avenue, Webster Groves, and Miss Gail Cochran of the Delmonte Hotel, 5636 Delmar Boulevard, who have been the third and first grade teachers for two years, have not been employed for next year by the board. The teachers have been notified that their skirts were too short.

Complaint of Board Member.

"A member of the School Board complained to me—Superintendent Hoeff about two months ago that our skirts were too short," Miss Larkin told reporters. "Four inches below the knees was the proper length, the member thought."

"Miss Cochran and myself believe we should be permitted to wear what's in style, but to satisfy the member, we lengthened our skirts to six inches below the knee. In spite of that, or because of it, none of the board members came around to see the long skirts."

"Then the board met and let us out for the next year. Our position is that teachers should be allowed to wear clothes that are in style, just as pupils and mothers of pupils do. Our skirts were not too short in the first place, as they did not show the knees. Besides, we always sat behind a desk."

Pupils with the Pupils.

The Misses Larkin and Cochran are popular with the pupils and parents know that they were not to be retained because of skirts; there was much indignation. Mrs. L. Gerskovitz of 5721 Windsor Avenue, who has children in both first and third grades, sat down and drafted a petition asking the school board to explain its action. Twenty-four other school patrons, mostly mothers of pupils, endorsed the petition. The board replied that it had taken the request under consideration.

"The two teachers have been perfectly wonderful to my children and the other children and are very popular," Mrs. Gerskovitz said today. "They seem very efficient and if the board had any reason for not retaining them, other than the matter of skirts, the reason should be revealed."

"It is true that the teachers wore short skirts, but not any shorter than worn by other girls. They are simply up-to-date teachers. Besides, they lengthened the skirts on request. It might have been different if there were adolescent children in the classes."

Their Term Ends Friday.

Miss Cochran and Miss Larkin, who are in their early 20s and good-looking, were presiding over their classes today and will do so until the term ends Friday. They were wearing their skirts rather long—as long as those of the principal, Miss Stella Thompson.

The School Board consists of five men and one woman, Mrs. Charles W. L. Jost of 2319 Baldwin Avenue. Mrs. Jost declined to say how she stood on the skirt issue when it came before the board.

"There are about 60 teachers in the school district and about a dozen were not offered contracts for next year," explained Grover Devine, president of the board.

"The question of skirts was not the only one, as regards Miss Larkin. How do I stand regarding the length of skirts? That's personal—I have nothing to say."

Salesman For Face Cream

Learns a Lesson

New York City. Mr. H. B. Menne writes:—"I was a salesman of creams for healing pimples, acne, etc., etc., when my face broke out with blotchy pimples and blackheads. I tried one salve after another with no results. I found it as impossible to sell skin creams as a bald headed man finds selling hair tonic. Finally I decided I would have to get at the cause—constipation. I was amazed to find that within a few days after taking Carter's Little Liver Pills my skin took on a new healthful look."

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—Completion of the G. H. Douglas Commercial Bridge over the Klamath River, dedicated Monday in the presence of the Governors of California and Oregon, is declared to be the most important event since Missouri and Arkansas pioneers settled the country in the early 50's. Neighboring Indian tribes sent delegations to perform their seldom-witnessed "deaf skin dance."

The bridge is a connecting link on the Redwood Highway, running from San Francisco, Cal., to Portland, Ore., and the sole remaining link to make that highway an all-year-around motor road. It replaces the Requa ferry.

Policemen are complaining of drivers who, on coming to a stop sign, cut to the right through filling-station driveways to make right turns. If arrested, they say, in court that they drove into the filling station to make a purchase and then changed their minds.

"It is evading the law," a policeman said. "The pedestrian is in danger from such practice, but the only charge that we can place against such violators is trespassing. Filling station owners refuse to prosecute, and so it goes on."

16,830 BIRTHS; 11,379
DEATHS HERE IN YEAR

Mortality Much Higher Among Negroes Than Whites,
Health Report Shows.

Health Commissioner Starkloff,
in his report for the fiscal year ending a month ago, fixed the death rate for St. Louis at 12.8 per 1,000 of population, an increase of .3 over the previous year. There were 11,379 deaths last year, compared with 10,928 the year before.
The slight increase, he said, was not alarming, as the average rate for five years had been 14.36.

Negroes had a much higher death rate than whites, 21.82, the whites having 12.8. The previous year the respective rates were 21.51 and 12.8.

The birth rate for St. Louis last year was 20.7 per 1,000 of population and Commissioner Starkloff remarked that there had been no decided increase in this, for in 20 years, the rate in 1907 having been higher than last year. There were 16,830 births last year, a decrease of 265 from 1924. There were 8,801 boys and 7,983 girls and 66 cases where sex was not recorded. There were 14,794 white births and 2,036 Negroes.

Causes of Death.

Decrease in the number of deaths from communicable diseases was noted, except that diphtheria showed an increase of 22 and typhoid of three. The death rate from degenerative diseases increased. Organic heart disease gave an increase of 379 deaths, or a rate of 2.57 per 1,000, there having been a steady increase since 1920, when the rate was 1.65. Anthrax increased by 118 deaths and meningitis by 16. These three ailments combined gave a rate of 4.22, representing 52 per cent of all deaths.

Tuberculosis has steadily become less fatal in St. Louis. It claimed 1,523 lives in 1917, a rate of 1.84 per 1,000 population, but last year took only 825, a rate of 1.02 per 1,000.

The Visiting Nurses' Association and Koch Hospital have combined to fight tuberculosis, along with public societies.

Death rate of infants under 1 year old was 84.5 per 1,000, with 1929 deaths, a drop from a rate of 85 per 1,000 the previous year. The new rate includes 96.1 per 1,000
among Negroes.

Lowest in Country.

St. Louis now has the lowest infant death rate, the Commissioner reported. New York having 65,
Cleveland 65.5 and Chicago 74.7.

Thirty-two persons died here of alcoholism last year, an increase of four.

Touching on growth of the community beyond the city limits, into
St. Louis County, Commissioner
Starkloff said:

"Communicable diseases know no boundary. From a public health standpoint the adjacent densely populated territory is really an integral part of the metropolitan community. The population is made up mainly of former residents of the city, who seek county environment but maintain social and business contacts with our city and, therefore, always are more or less of a possible source of danger
by reason of limited supervision."

"This is no reflection on the local health authorities. Facilities for disease control in a fast growing and new community cannot be expected to be fully developed.

This is evidenced by the frequent visits by county residents for examinations of water and milk and of dog brains. Annexation would benefit city and county from the health standpoint by centralizing and co-ordinating health work."

Conditions in City.

"We shall

Starkloff lamented the lack of funds for his department, the appropriation last year being what he called the low figure of 27 cents per capita. As population grows more money should be spent on municipal health work, he declared. Instead of four packing plant inspectors he said he should have 12, especially since the Federal Government inspects only several of the 56 here. His department condemned 11,343 pounds of meat last year.

"Efforts will be made, the commissioner reported, to have the Legislature enable cities to require pasteurization of milk, since the Supreme Court of Missouri has knocked out the St. Louis milk ordinance.

St. Louis Has 166,892 Phones.

The increase brings the total num-

166,892. Each of the four months

"THERE OUGHT TO BE A LAW"

"BUSINESS is stubborn and selfish!" said a Congressman the other day to the editor of Nation's Business. He had just heard the result of a business battle. The Secretary of Commerce had called lumbermen to Washington to fix a standard inch board.

"Get together," he urged, "solve your own problems."

The lumbermen welcomed the opportunity to do the job themselves; they realized that if they didn't, Congress might. (Then there would be the devil to pay as well as more Federal inspectors, investigators, and supervisors.) Bad for business; bad for the consumer.

So this great industry, represented by mill men, wholesalers, manufacturers, retailers, architects, and builders, worked all day and night, and the next day and night. One thirty-second of an inch hopelessly divided them. The Secretary of Commerce made a personal plea. More discussion. Finally a compromise; a standard and an extra-standard board were adopted.

IT WAS this incident which aroused the Congressman's ire.

"You can see for yourself. There's a typical case. Business is stubborn, selfish, and stupid. Fighting over a thirty-second of an inch! That is why Congress has to make hundreds of laws each year regulating business!"

The editor had attended the meetings. Otherwise he could not have answered the challenge.

"It does seem like a small thing," he replied, "a thirty-second of an inch. Yet that thirty-second of an inch involves the scrapping of millions of dollars' worth of machinery; it involves destruction of hard-won markets, entailing endless confusion; it would mean a realignment of thousands of freight tariffs, both rail and water; it would require a revision of building codes in twenty-odd states; it would—"

"Hold on," said the Congressman, "I didn't realize—"

THAT is the trouble. There are too many of us who do not realize the tremendous interrelation of industry today, who prescribe a simple legislative pill. It's so easy to say, "There ought to be a law—." But business, now so complex, cannot be treated so simply. In 1919 the Russians couldn't buy tea.

India, which raises it for them, couldn't buy textiles of England. The Manchester mills had the greatest slump in sixty years. Cotton dropped, and the South couldn't buy; wholesalers along the Ohio River failed. Thus Cincinnati families suffered, and all because the Russians quit drinking tea.

Again, a shipment of pianos was tied up in a South American port because the purchasers could not pay for them. A man in Omaha invented Eskimo Pie with a chocolate coating. It swept the country, necessitating more cacao from Ecuador. The trade balance was restored, credit re-established in New York. The Ecuadorians got their pianos; our manufacturers got their money; piano workers their wages. New markets were opened for wire and wood and steel and all the things which go into a piano.

All because a man in Omaha thought of selling ice cream in a chocolate cover.

OUR industrial processes, growing more intricate daily, breed misunderstandings—and oftentimes bad legislation. No one mind today can encompass these far-flung inter-relations. H. G. Wells says regarding them:

"It is a race between education and catastrophe!"

Our national well-being depends upon a wider understanding of business. And that means, simply, the sum total of your understanding and mine.

Body odor is natural, but absolutely avoidable. The cause is a constant accumulation of fatty waste and the acids of perspiration in pores all over the body. Local applications under arms do not remove all the cause. Lifebuoy does.

Baths help, but their effect is soon lost unless Lifebuoy is used. This wholly different soap has a penetrating, antiseptic lather which really gets into the pores, emulsifies and rinses away all the clogging film and leaves all the skin so wholly clean, so sweet, healthy and alive that odor is im-

It is this super-cleanliness which makes Lifebuoy such a wonderful protecdiscussing a phase of city conditions, he said:

"Present-day conditions of housing are not conducive to the prevention of communicable diseases. In apartments where there is a number of families in one building, there is greater danger of exposure and less opportunity of maintaining quarantines. A university professor and a former editor have said some day we shall know an architect whose building is not designed to aid health as a bad architect, despite the beauty he may have captured in the lines of his structure. Efforts of the Health Department to inspect housing conditions could well be applied to apartments in the so-called fashionable district as well as the tenements."

However, there is only one inspector of tenements. Commissioner Starkloff lamented the lack of funds for his department, the appropriation last year being what he called the low figure of 37 cents per capita. As population grows more money should be spent on municipal health work, he declared. The birth rate for St. Louis last year was 20.7 per 1,000 of population and Commissioner Starkloff remarked that there had been a decided increase in this for 20 years, the rate in 1907 having been higher than last year. ## NEVADA'S LETHAL GAS ROOM PREPARED FOR EXECUTIONS

Two Murderers to Die Friday Unless Parole Board Saves Them Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.

RENO, Nev., May 19.—The lethal gas chamber at the Nevada State prison, where two condemned murderers, John H. Randolph and Stanis Jukich are to be executed Friday, has been given a final overhauling. The inside of the little stone building has been whitewashed and the two pine chairs painted a dark brown. All the outside woodwork has been painted and a trusty spent most of yesterday afternoon chipping possible air holes so that none of the hydrocyanic gas might escape and harm the witnesses to the execution.

These and many other huge memorials exist but the greatest of them all and the one upon which center the thoughts of those who remember the heroism of America's men is the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Washington.

Twenty-five fox hours from the Huntington farm, near Lathrop, Mo., arrived at Jefferson Barracks last night to participate in the fox hunt to be held on the military reservation Saturday morning as a feature of the Military and Civilian Horse Show to be held there Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The hounds will follow a scent over the reservation, followed by the hunters on horses, and later a "hunt breakfast" will be served.

More than 40 horse show events are on the program for the show.

In addition, several military units will be shown, including a garrison parade, Sunday evening, under the direction of the new Post Commander, Col. Moor N. Falls.

STOCK PRICE MOVEMENTS ARE MIXED

Comparatively Wide Spread in Many Instances Shown in Trade on New York Market—Rally in French Exchange Rate.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 19.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"Conflicting price movements, with a comparatively wide spread in many instances, featured trading on the stock market today. The bear element was on the lookout throughout the session for spots and succeeded in discovering some among the inactive issues."

While they were active on the selling side in some stocks they were covering in others, it was evident that the market, particularly in industrial stocks, was growing rallyist.

The monotony of the past few days was relieved to some extent by important news developments. Trading, while more active than late, was a long way from being hot.

The features of the bond market, displaying strength on report that the Standard Oil Co. of New York would assume general obligations.

Bonds were active and strong, the leadership up again in Havens.

The features of the bond market, displaying strength on report that the Standard Oil Co. of New York would assume general obligations.

Bonds were active and strong, the leadership up again in Havens.

The foreign obligations were disappointing in view of the rally in the French and Belgian francs, most of them being up last night's closing.

Gold was steady at 25¢ per cent. Money brokers expect funds for Stock Exchange financing to be cheap all summer, with the exception of perhaps temporary flurries at times when unduly large interest payments are unusually large.

A. T. & T. Stock Offering.

Hudson's rally attracted considerable attention and started the rumor factory to work. Reports were circulated that at the meeting to be held tomorrow the company will be stock up a $4 annual cash basis and make a substantial distribution in the way of a stock dividend. Other reports were that a $6 annual rate will be authorized. It was evident that the bear element was unable to take advantage of an action of this sort taking place and were willing to bid the price of the stock up in order to cover their commitments.

Announcement of the offering of $154,000,000 additional stock by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. took the market somewhat by surprise, although it had been expected sometime this year.

The stock reacted a point or so on the news despite the fact that the shareholding was believed to be about 40 per cent of the current market price for the stock.

The additional offering will bring the premier utility company's outstanding capitalization to above the $1,000,000 mark. It now has $821,000,000 of stock outstanding. Actual authorized capitalization amounts to $1,300,000,000.

Drive Against Inactive Issues.

In order to facilitate short covering a drive was made against some of the inactive stocks early in session. Siemens for American Radiator were caught napping and before they could marshal the necessary support the stock had been forced down more than 5 points. It quickly rallied, due to its position in the American Radio and Television Co., and the telephone companies.

Other stocks were caught napping and before they could marshal the necessary support the stock had been forced down more than 5 points.

It quickly rallied, due to its position in the American Radio and Television Co., and the telephone companies.

Foreign exchanges rallied sharply under influence of short covering rates on Paris and Brussels again got above the 3c level. Demand for francs was heavy and was in large volume, while Italian exchanges also were strong and gained on a new top in the recoveries. Sterling however, eased off and Dutch rates were lower. Scandinavians showed a mixed trend.

Weather Affects Commodity Markets.

Weather news dominated trading in the principal commodity markets. May wheat contracts recorded an advance of about a bushel, but later deliveries lost ground and were down again. The market responded to more favorable weather conditions in crop belts. Cotton started off with a fair sized rally on news of a heavy Texas rain, but when the bad weather conditions were favorable and prices eased off in the afternoon.

Sinclair Consolidated Net for 4 Months $931,000.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Stockholders of Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation were informed by Harry C. Sinclair, chairman, that the company had been in better condition than it had ever been before, and that the net income of 1929 had risen to $10,000,000 in comparison with $5,000,000 in the corresponding period of 1928.

The company's expansion in gasoline production and sales having been made in the four months in contrast to 13,000,000 barrels in the first three months, production also increased to 3,775,000 barrels against 2,140,000 barrels.

Under the new policy recently adopted by the directors to apply more strict financial control, outstanding bonds should be honored at par when stockholders during 1929, the company retired about $1,000,000 of bonds and met expenses which far exceeded $1,000,000 additional for this year.

Interest in Oil Production.

NEW YORK, May 19.—The daily average crude oil production of the United States increased to 4,000 barrels per day during the week ending May 15, totaling 1,000,000 barrels according to the summary of the American Petroleum Institute.

PARIS SEES HISTORIC AMERICAN UNIFORMS

Regiments of Revolutionary War Worn by Visiting Guard Companies.

Special to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. (Copyright, 1926.)

PARIS, May 19.—Five hundred of the gayest Americans who ever stepped on French soil entered Paris when a Brussels special disembarked the Richmond Light Infantry Blues Battalion, of Richmond, Va., the first company Governor's footguard of Hartford, Conn.; the second company Governor's footguard of New Haven, Conn., and the Putnam Phalanx of Hartford, Conn.

The pleasure sight-seeing tour of this distinguished provisional regiment is the result of a polite remark made in a speech by Marshal Foch in Richmond, Va., in 1921, when he said he would like to see the Richmond Blues in Paris.

The strike prevented a visit to London where the first company of footguards was eager to parade in their historic uniform, which is the same as that of the British Coldstream Guards, but King Albert of Belgium reviewed them in Brussels and came down to the street to shake hands with their officers.

The visit of the first company footguards to the tomb of Lafayette was of historic interest as this company was his personal bodyguard during the war of independence.

The most exciting incident of the trip was the discovery that a steward had kept money given him for stamps and envelopes, had pocketed $300 and had thrown 2500 letters into the sea.

Soldier Robbed of $4.50.

Two men with revolvers held up Corp. Stanley Czajka of the Sixth Infantry, Jefferson Barracks, on Chambers street, near Broadway, at 11:30 p. m. yesterday, taking $4.50, all the money he had. When he reported the robbery at North Main street station and explained he had to be back at barracks by daylight, Lieut. Hoagland handed him half a dollar for carfare.

CHAPTER 35.
September, 8th.

HALLIDAY'S attitude is very curious. He is taciturn in the extreme; he avoids any confidential talks with me, and Jane commented on it this morning.

"He worries me," she said, "and he is worrying Edith. If you go out now and look, you'll see him pacing the boat-house veranda, and he has been doing it for the last hour."

I admit that he puzzles me. It was Greenough's errand so far as I can make out to relieve my mind as to myself, but to treat Halliday's case is given to the police, as entirely confidential.

"It's the outside man we are after," he said; "and the outside men are going to get."

But on my mentioning my right to know who was under suspicion, he only repeated what the detective had said.

"You understand," he said, "there's no case in law yet. Knowing who did a thing, and proving who did it, are different things entirely."

But they would prove it, he was confident. So confident, indeed, that before he left he inquired the make and cost of my car. Evidently he has already mentally banked the reward.

On the other hand, certain things seem to me still to be far from clear.

Halliday, I understand, passed over to the police the following facts:

(a) A copy of the unfinished letter from Horace Porter to some unknown.

(b) A description of the print of a hand, left on the window board.

(c) A small illustration from the book "Eugenia Riggs and her Phenomena," and showing the same hand print.

(d) A sworn statement of the Livingstones' butler, the nature of which I do not know.

(e) An analysis of his own theory of the experiments referred to in the diary.

(f) And a letter to Edith from an anonymous correspondent. (To be referred to later.)

(g) The possibility that the two attempts to enter the main house are due to the fact that, in the back of the shape, something was left there which is both identifying and incriminating.

But so far as I can discover, he has not told them that, from the time the guards were taken away from the house at night, he was on watch there.

In other words, from shortly after the murder he must have known that something incriminating had been left there, when Bethel and his accomplice, Gordon's "outside man," made their escape the night the secretary was murdered. He may even know what it is, and where. But he has not told Greenough.

Again, there is the fact that a statement by the Livingstones' butler was a portion of the evidence he submitted. Surely they are not endeavoring to incriminate Livingstone!

September 9th.

It is Halliday's idea to hold another seance, using Cameron's coming as the excuse for it. I gather that he believes that, under cover of the seance, another attempt may be made to get the incriminating evidence left in the house. Not that he says so, but his question concerning the sounds I heard in the hall during the second seance point in that direction.

"This heretical odor you speak of, Skipper," he asked, "was that before you heard the movement outside?"

"Some time before. Yes. But the odor seemed to be in the room; the sounds were beyond the door."

"You don't connect them, then?"

"I hadn't thought about it but I didn't hear any footstep."

"Did you hear any footstep?"

I had to consider that. Not footstep; there was a sort of scraping along the floor."

"And the moment you spoke this noise ceased?"

"Yes."

The whole situation is baffling in the extreme. I cannot ignore the fact that the two were proposed by Mrs. Livingstone; that it was she who left the hall door unbolted at the second sitting, or that Livingstone himself was absent that second night, presumably ill. At the same time, it was Livingstone who indirectly advised me against the business.

"Let it alone," he warned me. "Let well enough alone."

So far as Halliday is concerned, it is clear that he does not like the idea of another seance, but feels that it is necessary. He assures me the police will be on hand, inside and outside the house, but he does not minimize the fact that there will be a certain risk, and that he directs taking Jane and Edith into it.

"It's like this," he said today, feeling painfully for words. "In a sense, we and I are at the starting of the ways in this thing. We can let it alone and turn loose of the world a cruel and deadly idea which may go on claiming victims indefinitely." He made a small gesture. "Or—we put into the other side of the scale all we have in the world, and then—" He pulled himself up. "There's only possible danger," he said. "Unless things slip, there should be very little."

The same list of those present as before. There is an unconscious emphasis placed by Halliday on Hayward and Livingstone, but perhaps he is over-watchful.

I daresay, thus placed between my duty and my fears, I shall do my duty. I perceive that either Hayward or Livingstone is more to be believed than the house, and under conditions more or less favorable to what is to be done. My nerves that they sounded like a "Careful, man," he said.

These were his only words during our slow progress toward the house before each seance, and Cameron may do this with unusual thoroughness; it has been decided not to "ice" Greenough and his officers until after the sitting begins. Halliday has therefore today connected the bell from that room, which rings in the kitchen, to a temporary extension in the garage, with a buzzer. When the lights are lowered, he will touch the bell, and Greenough is then to smuggle his men in through the kitchen.

While no one can say what changes Cameron may suggest in our previous methods, Halliday imagines he will ask us at first to proceed as usual. In any event, I am to sit as near to the switch as possible, and when Halliday calls for lights, am to be ready to turn them on.

8:30. Everything is ready. But I am concerned about Halliday. Has he some apprehension about his own safety tonight?

He came an hour or so too early to start with the car for Cameron, and borrowing pen and paper, wrote a long communication to Hemingway. What is in it I do not know, but he took it with him, to mail on his way to the station.

(END OF MR. PORTER'S JOURNAL)

CONCLUSION.

CHAPTER I.

The Journal takes us up to the evening of September 10, 1922. It was to the fourth and last tragedy of that summer, which filled the next day's papers, that little Pettingill referred, in the conversation recorded in the introduction of this Journal.

It was with this tragedy that, as Pettingill said agreeably, the story "quit" on them. And quit it did. We felt then that the best thing to do, under the circumstances, was to let it rest. Once more, de mortuis nil nisi bonum.

There was nothing to be gained by giving the story to the public, and much to be lost. At the time it is to be remembered, a wave of spiritualism, or rather spiritualism, was spreading over the country; it was still filled, too, with post-war psychopathia. The very nature of the experiment which had been tried was of the sort to seize on the neurotic imagination, and set it afame. It was not considered advisable to allow it publicity.

Now, of course, things are different. The search goes on, and perhaps some day, not by this method but by some legitimate and scientific one, survival may be proved. I do not know; I do not greatly care. After all, I am a Christian, and my faith is built on a life after death. But I accept that I do not require proof of it.

Picture us, then, that evening of September 10th, when the Journal ends, waiting for we knew not what. Just picking up her tapestry and putting it away again; Edith powdering her nose with hands that shook in spite of her best efforts; Halliday at the railroad station with the car to meet Cameron; and off in the woodland, where the red lamp of the lighthouse flashed its danger signal every 10 seconds from the end of Robinson's point. Greenough and a half-dozen officers.

Picture us, too, when we had all gathered; Cameron, with his hand still bandaged, presented to the dramatic personae of the play and eying each one in turn shrewdly; Mrs. Livingstone garrulous and uneasy; and Livingstone a sort of waxy white and with a nervous trembling I had never observed before. Of us all, only Halliday seemed natural. And Hayward, natural because he was never at it.

What Cameron made of it I do not know. Very probably he saw in us only a group of sensation-seekers, excited by some small contact with world beyond our knowledge, and if he felt surprise at all, it was that I had joined the ranks.

He himself did not appear to take the matter seriously. He made it plain that he had come in this manner at my request; that his own methods would be entirely different from Edith. I think it was asked him if he had made any preparation for such affairs. He laughed and shook his head.

"Except that I sometimes take a cup of coffee to keep me awake," he said.

On the way up the drive I walked with Livingstone. Why? I hardly know, except that he seemed to drift toward me. He pulled himself up. "There's only one time before. Yes. But the odor seemed to be in the room; the sounds were beyond the door."

"You don't connect them, then?"

"I hadn't thought about it but I didn't hear any footstep."

MEDITATIONS
OF A MARRIED WOMAN
By HELEN ROWLAND

The He-Man, Before—and After, Taking.

E VERY girl under twenty has at some time dreamed of being captured, carried off, and peremptorily married by a bold, daring He-Man.

There are times when every woman thinks wistfully of the days when a lover hit his lady over the head with a club and dragged her three times around his tent; and compares him flatteringly with the cautious, inert, prosaic aristocrat, who has to be drawn out, blindfolded and backed into marriage.

When a modern Lothario DOES get a reputation as a "Perfect Cave Man," there is usually a wild bargain-rush for his favor.

But, being courted by a He-man, and being married to one, are SO different!

Before marriage, a girl is thrilled at being affectionately ordered about by a big, masterful caveman. But after marriage, her hero's halo turns into a cute little pair of horns when he begins to bully her around the house.

It's so romantic to be peremptorily told to put on your galoshes and "keep your itty bitty feet dry" by a big protecting man who lifts you over the puddles.

But it's not half so thrilling to be told to "Find my shoes!" or to "Take off that bare-backed dress and put on something decent!" by an overbearing husband, who goes around sporting a two-days' stubble.

It makes you feel so little and tender and clinging to have the wheel taken out of your hands by a strong pair of arms, and to lean back trustfully and be guided through the traffic, before marriage.

But after marriage it's not so flattering to be told "not-to-touch-that-car-you-haven't-got-sense-enough-to-drive-a-baby-carriage!"

It's one thing to be able to make a woman-tamer glow and mope around a ball-room all evening, because he is miserably jealous every time you dance with another man.

And it's quite another thing, after the wedding, to have the same woman-tamer pound on the table and tell you "where you get off" if he catches you dancing with "that pie-faced electron" again.

You may tingle with pride in the man who always is ready to fight for his rights—before marriage.

But you tingle in quite another way when he fights with YOU for the sole possession of the morning newspaper and the right to change the dinner hour seven times a week.

Oh, yes, an audacious, dauntless, commanding He-man makes a picturesque and stimulating lover—but as a daily household companion he is about as satisfying and comforting as a pet Gorilla.

It takes a little tact, a little delicacy and a lot of unselfishness and finesse to make a successful husband! And these no caveman ever possessed!

The Better Day

WAITING for a better day to come, she has never brought one to her foolish feet. What if she did not bring all the sought? Still, if you can sing, wonders may be.

Courage many times has losses into gain, from defeat have earned victory. So, although some days bring drear and dragoon, these will lift a lighter weight when you use your powers.

A coat of gray twill has a grace, falling from the shoulders and fastening at the cuffline.

SHOPPING FOR VEGETABLES

By HANNAH WING.

WHEN one goes shopping for fresh fruits and vegetables these days one must use as much or more care than in buying silks, velvets or laces. Cabbages do not come with the label women in the selvege, nor do they have a distinguishing wrapper with a trade mark which stands for reliability. Therefore, one must use one's senses, including that known as common, as well as those of sight and smell and feeling.

Appearance, condition, size, flavor and correct weight or measure must be taken into consideration. Care in grading and preparing for shipment results in the best products and is usually indicated by careful packing in heavy crates that prevent bruising, by a spotless surface, uniform in size in each crate and often by individual paper wrappings. The appearance of such external parts as tips and leaves is a help in judging freshness in the retail market.

Look not only for beginning of decay, but also for maturity and fitness of flavor. A good pineapple, for example, has a fine aroma. Juice is heavier than pith or rind, and the lighter of two similar looking grapefruit or parsnips should be rejected. A well-filled head of cabbage is heavy. Sometimes it pays to buy a single apple or orange and taste it before purchasing a large quantity from the same lot. In marketing for several days at a time, such foods as peaches, bananas, tomatoes or pears, which ripen at home, should be bought in different stages of maturity—some green and some ready for immediate use.

Vegetables or fruits that are to be cooked or served in individual portions should be uniform in size. But if your apples, sweet potatoes, green peppers or tomatoes are to be cut up, mashed, or put to many uses, ungraded products at a lower price will do just as well.

Mere size is not economical in cases where a single grapefruit or apple is too large for one and not large enough for two persons. Estimate exactly how many you require to serve your family and buy that number. Have the number or amount you want weighed or measured after you have selected it.

Otherwise you must learn for yourself how many servings a quart, a pound or a dozen will make, and buy accordingly.

"Because," replied Johnny, "I don't know which way to go. There may be no danger either way, but on the other hand, danger may be hidden along one and not along the other. I heard a long time ago that the wisest thing anyone can do is to remain safe. That's what I'm doing right now. If I could know what is ahead of me I would know which of these paths to take."

Without another word, away raced some of the Merry Little Breezes. Some danced away down one fork and some danced down the other. Johnny Chuck returned to his task of baking.

"Because I haven't heard anything from that Little path yet," replied Johnny. "It may be just as dangerous as the other one."

Just then another Merry Little Breeze came hurrying up that other path and tickled Johnny's little black nose with a lot of odors. Johnny sniffed. There wasn't one bad odor among them. Without another word Johnny started down that particular Little path, and ahead of him danced the Merry Little Breezes. And as they went along the Merry Little Breezes kept coming back, bringing all the little odors they found in the path, and, as all the odors were good, Johnny felt quite safe. The Merry Little Breezes were helping him, and Johnny was beginning to enjoy the excitement of exploring.

"That I'm not going down that path," replied Johnny. "Old Man Coyote has come down there, and he probably is down there somewhere now. If that is so, it is no place for Johnny Chuck."

Without another word, away raced some of the Merry Little Breezes. Some danced away down one fork and some danced down the other. Johnny Chuck returned to his task of baking.

"Then why don't you go down the other little path?" inquired another of the Merry Little Breezes.

"To This Batter.

Should the cake batter seem too stiff beat an egg and add a bit at a time until the batter is of the consistency desired. Never pour in milk to thin a batter; it will result in poor cake.

THE gallant Norge her way did forge through regions cold and callous; She took her flight amid the light Of Aurora Borealis.

She sailed from Rome to go to Nome.

But accidents befall her; For she, alas! ran out of gas And had to land at Teller.

Though Nome is grieved and slightly peev'd, It could not be prevented. As perfect ships for Polar trips Have yet to be invented.

LOBBYISTS BESET
TARIFF BOARD,
CULBERTSON SAYS

Declares "Delay and Nullification" Group Within Reflected Interested Sentiment Without.

NEWS OF ITS PLANS
LEAKED SOMEHOW

Harding Temporarily "Disturbed" by Aluminum and Other Inquiries, Witness Tells Senators.

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The "efficiency" of Washington lobbies for special interests was commented upon today by William S. Culbertson, former vice chairman of the United States Tariff Commission and now Minister to Rumania, in the second instalment of his testimony before the special Senate committee investigating the Tariff Commission.

Culbertson recalled that in March, 1923, after the commission, under the powers conferred on it by the flexible tariff provision, had decided to begin an investigation of the cost of production of pig iron, aluminum ware, sugar, hoteler and certain other selected commodities, efforts were immediately begun to block the proposed surveys.

Harding was disturbed.

President Harding, he said, called him on the telephone and said that he had heard of the resolution of the commission, in favor of making these surveys, and had been disturbed by it. The President suggested that the further action be taken along this line after a conference with him. This conference was held in April. After the return of the President from his vacation in Florida and the result according to the witness, was a "courageous decision" by the President.

It had previously been testified by Commissioner E. P. Costigan that this decision permitted the commission, under certain conditions, to go ahead with investigations on its own initiative. Culbertson said that the original alarm of President Harding over the proposed investigation had been caused by misrepresentation of the facts by interested persons.

The opposition to the investigations, he said, "was not concerned with any question of principles. Technicalities were seized upon to block inquiries that might show certain tariff rates to be excessive."

Leakage of Information.
Senator La Follette asked about the leakage of information from the commission, and the witness replied that interested parties "somehow learned when their products were being considered." In reply to further questions he added that the opposition on the outside of the commission was reflected on the inside by the votes of Commissioners Marvin, Burgess and Glassell. Ranged against these three were Culbertson, Costigan and Lewis. This division remained fairly constant until the reorganization of the commission.

One of the bones of contention was whether or not the commission should proceed to make investigations on its own initiative, in accordance with what Culbertson conceived to be the purpose of Congress in writing the elastic section into the tariff law. The reactionary group held that inquiries should be started only on applications from the outside.

Culbertson said that those on the commission who believed in "delay and nullification" attempted to keep the organization busy.

Smoot as "Liberal Influence."
In the course of a detailed history of the making of the tariff act of 1922, Culbertson surprised some of his hearers by describing Senator Smoot of Utah as an "elusive liberal, or moderating, influence" during the negotiations. He meant by this he explained that Smoot was instrumental in defeating those extreme proposals, those for a dye embargoes, discriminatory reciprocity and American valuation as the rate-making basis.

The first expression of the flexible tariff idea, the witness said, was contained in memorandums which he (Culbertson) submitted to President Harding in October, 1921. Senator Smoot became spokesman for the idea on the floor of the Senate. The theory was that the flexible provision would enable the President to adjust the Fordney-McCumber rates to meet changing conditions, with
